Luxury Yacht Vixen Here For Big Reconversion Job

Yacht Vixen moored alongside at the V.M.D. No. 2 shipyard.

Former flagship of U.S. navy commander-in-chiefs, the 333-ft. luxury yacht Vixen, reached Victoria Thursday noon to be reconverted as a de luxe passenger vessel at the Victoria Machinery Depot for Pacific Cruise Lines.

The sleek vessel, still wearing her grey war paint, went alongside the V.M.D. shipyard in the outer harbor, where she is berthed opposite the former Morgan luxury yacht Corsair, also being converted as a passenger ship for the same company.

The V.M.D. was expected today to submit a bid to undertake the work of reconverting the yacht into a vessel capable of accommodating approximately 90 passengers.

The contract is expected to involve a sum of approximately $200,000.

D. E. Skinner of the Pacific Cruise Lines, said the Vixen would operate alongside the Corsair in passenger runs between California and Central and South America in winter and between Vancouver and Alaska in summer.

The vessel arrived here from Charlestown, South Carolina, manned by a crew of 34 seamen, who have since returned home. Capt. L. A. Davis of Orcas, San Juan Islands, was in charge of the ship on arrival.

Built in 1929 at Kiel, Germany, the 3,000-ton yacht is powered by twin screw diesel engines. Its average speed is 15 knots. It is also equipped with the most up-to-date safety devices, which include a radar, wireless, direction finder gyro compass and depth sounder.

CARRIED ADMIRALS

During the war the yacht was used as a flagship for Admiral Ernest J. King and Admiral R. E. Ingersoll, who both served as commander-in-chiefs of the U.S. Atlantic Fleet.

Although the luxury trimmings were stripped during the war, the vessel in its present condition would equal in comfort any yacht now in use. There are spacious staterooms, with washroom and showers. Amidships a stairway leads to the upper deck. The chief attraction aboard the vessel is the radar which Capt. Davis described as the "mariner's prayer."

Rev. Thomas Menzies Dies At Age Of 76

Rev. Thomas Menzies, 76, British Columbia missionary, at one time a member of the Legislature and later provincial civil servant, died here today after a short illness.

Born in Middlesex County, Ont., Mr. Menzies studied for the Presbyterian ministry and came to British Columbia 55 years ago as a missionary. He was stationed in various parts of the province including Courtenay when he was elected as an independent member of the Provincial Legislature in 1920. He resigned his pastorate to accept a civil service post.

For a time he served as superintendent of the neglected children's department but later returned to active ministry. He retired at the outbreak of war.

With the manpower shortage felt in the civil service, he accepted a position with the agriculture department, retaining it until last October when he retired along with other over-age civil servants.

He is survived by two daughters and two sons.

Tanker Sends SOS

HONOLULU (AP)—Six ships were converging today on the U.S. Maritime Commission tanker Fort Dearborn, which reported in an SOS message Wednesday that it had broken in two approximately 800 miles north-west of Honolulu. The Fort Dearborn, with 43 men aboard, carried 110,000 barrels of diesel oil.

Dutch Plane Sought

BATAVIA, Java (AP)—Search was renewed today for a Dutch Air Force Dakota plane carrying two crew members and 25 passengers, reported missing Wednesday.

Goes On Trial

 GEORGES ROBERT
 Ex-admiral of France

PARIS (AP)—Admiral Georges Robert, implacable wartime foe of the United States as Vichy's High Commissioner to the French West Indies, was accused before the French high court today of establishing a dictatorship in Martinique after the fall of France. The court charged that he prevented Frenchmen there from joining Gen. Charles de Gaulle's Free French movement. The bearded admiral, now 72, denied the charges.

Rescued From Makeshift Raft Off Harbor Here

Soaked to the skin and suffering from exposure, Walter Duncan Taylor, 23, of Keating Cross Road, was picked up by the night boat from Vancouver early this morning adrift on a makeshift raft in the waters off Victoria.

When Princess Joan, of the C.P.R. fleet, was midway between Brothie Ledge and Trial Island this morning at 6.18 en route to its berth in the Inner Harbor, the officer on watch, Second Mate Edward F. Woodman, spotted an improvised raft with a man clinging to it.

The ship's engines were reversed and the man was hauled aboard.

His raft was composed of five logs held together by a single board.

The man, identified as Taylor, was wet through and suffering from exhaustion. He was given first aid and when the boat docked, Dr. W. A. Trenholme attended and ordered the man taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

He was taken to hospital by Sgt. P. Atkinson and Constables Stan Holmes and Jack Mason of the city police. His condition is not regarded as serious.

According to police, Taylor said he had been on his crude raft for 10 hours.

Gasoline Price Up In Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP)—An increase in the price of gasoline is expected in Manitoba now that the federal government has announced lifting of the price ceiling and removal of the three-cent Dominion excise tax, a survey of oil company officials disclosed today. They said boosts were inevitable because of the rising costs of the basic product, crude oil.

Crisis In Bulgaria Rumored In Turkey; U.S. Envoy Halted

ISTANBUL (AP)—Rumors of a crisis in Bulgaria circulated in Turkey today in connection with reported movements of foreign diplomatic personnel.

Usually reliable sources said a United States diplomatic courier stopped at the Bulgarian frontier was told by a guard, "There is a terrific crisis—I can't say more." Unconfirmed reports meanwhile said the French diplomatic mission to Sofia had departed the Bulgarian capital and might reach Istanbul today. News dispatches earlier had reported a French protest against Bulgarian treatment.

The U.S. courier, informants said, was refused admission to Bulgaria, despite his visa, by authorities who declared they were under instructions in his case.

These sources reported the Bulgars were curtailing all movements sharply in a border zone nine miles deep.

Bulgaria closed her frontier with Turkey for 10 days, beginning last Thursday. Sofia dispatches two days later said the step was to forestall money smuggling, in line with a currency exchange program to fight the black market.

Ice Queen Signs On Victorian's Back

Barbara Ann Scott, world champion women's figure skater, becomes a "Short Snorter," an international organization of trans-Atlantic fliers. She is signing the dollar bill, which inducted her into the club, on the back of F. Maurice McGregor, trans-Atlantic operations manager of Trans-Canada Air Lines. McGregor, who is also a member and who was the co-signer of the bill, was born in Victoria and did his early flying here. Miss Scott, who flew back from Stockholm, where she won her skating title, can now claim "short snorts" from other members of the club who have forgotten to carry their bill.

U.S. Congress To Debate Momentous Truman Request

WASHINGTON (CP)—The United States Congress today lined up for a historic debate on President Truman's request for authority to put American money, men and equipment into the fight against the spread of Communism in Europe.

The President asked Wednesday for immediate authority to lead the United States in a move to stop Communism at the borders of Greece and Turkey.

He asked Congress to make a decision more momentous than any in history short of actual declaration of war.

Without mentioning Russia but leaving no doubt of his meaning, the President said it was the United States' responsibility to save Greece from the totalitarian fate that has overtaken other Balkan states.

He proposed spending $400,000 to help rehabilitate Greece and Turkey, to send them American civilian "and military" personnel as requested, and help them train their own personnel.

HOLIDAYS IN FLORIDA

Mr. Truman was a tired man as he stood before the legislators and handed them their unpleasant task. Immediately after delivering the address he flew to Key West for a four-or-five-day rest, on doctor's orders.

But there will be little rest for anybody in positions of responsibility.

The President's move, even if rejected by Congress, will have repercussions in every world capital (See story "Britain Welcomes," page 3).

However, the thought of rejection by Congress can scarcely be considered. It would strike a death-blow to United States prestige abroad and remove the last lingering hope of democratic forces in other countries fighting against Communist inroads.

There were openly voiced fears among law-makers that war with the Soviet Union might be the eventual result.

The President was assured the help of powerful Republicans as well as Democrats, including Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep.-Mich.), chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee.

But there will be bitter opposition from strong fighters in both parties who are determined to keep the United States out of Europe's quarrels.

MAY DEBATE PLANS

LONDON (Reuter)—The British government is prepared to discuss the possibility of a parliamentary debate on President Truman's announcement Wednesday of U.S. participation in aid of Greece and Turkey if there is a strong demand for it, Arthur Greenwood, leader of the House of Commons, said today.

Police Commission To Reconvene Friday

Mayor Percy George said today he planned to call a meeting of the Police Commission Friday to continue discussions on the current crime wave and on the investigation into the police force to clear up charges that certain members of the force have been negligent of their duties.

The mayor said he had nothing more to say on the matter until the commissioners had held a further meeting with Chief of Police J. A. McLellan and learned how the investigation is proceeding.

Pits Nation's Power, Prestige Against Soviet

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

MOSCOW (AP)—Top U.S. diplomats today said State Secretary Marshall was determined to put United States foreign policy on the offensive and keep it there—a decision fraught with vital implications for the outcome of the Big Four's current sessions here.

In development of this determination, these informants said, President Truman's declaration Wednesday concerning Greece and Turkey played a major part.

(The President urged before a joint session of Congress in Washington Wednesday that the United States lend $400,000,000 to Greece and Turkey, asserting that "Communists" were leading "terrorists' activities" in Greece.)

There can no longer be any doubt that the highest American officials acting on their declared belief in the existence of a Soviet expansionist and aggressive attitude toward the rest of the world—are moving to pit United States power and prestige against Russian power and prestige in an effort to check that expansion.

Some French diplomats here say they believe Truman's declaration—assuming it will be approved by Congress—will so disturb the balance of power upon which the Russians have been counting in that part of the world that the Soviet Union would be extremely reluctant to pull troops out of the Balkans, as required by the satellite peace treaties.

Nazis Cleared By Joining Reds

MOSCOW (AP)—State Secretary Marshall, speaking on denazification before the Foreign Ministers' Council today, said the United States has "been disturbed by frequent reports in the Soviet zone of Germany that former active Nazis may be cleared by joining the Socialist Unity (Communist) Party."

Apparently speaking to forestall an expected Soviet attack on U.S. zone denazification, Marshall read a three-page statement relating that 12,000,000 persons have been registered for investigation, 200,000 tried and 370,000 removed from office in the U.S. section of Germany.

The Secretary added that the American zone denazification went "far beyond Allied Control authority directives," and asserted "there is nothing to conceal."

He pointed out that the Allied Control Council had not received full reports on denazification in the eastern (Soviet) zone of Germany and added "my government opposes the use of denazification in favor of any political party."

RUSSIAN REPOI

The Moscow radio reported that Marshall had "dwelt in detail on denazification in the American occupation zone" of Germany at today's session of the Foreign Ministers.

The broadcast said: "According to his statement, from the very beginning of the occupation of Germany, denazification of Germany was the main aim of the U.S.A. government."

"Marshall" presented some figures regarding the number of Hitlerites who had been put on trial or were being held pending trial.

"According to his statement, some 12,000,000 persons in the American zone have been registered as persons whose records are to be investigated. Having presented these striking figures, however, Marshall did not say anything about the fact that in the American zone in Germany very prominent Hitlerites are still at large.

SAY GENERALS FREE

"Nor did he touch on the question," which has recently been repeatedly raised in the press, as to how it could have happened that generals of S.S. troops are still free in the American zone of Germany—those generals who were implicated in the recently-exposed Nazi conspiracy."

Earlier, the radio had said the Big Four foreign ministers' deputies had agreed to bar from Austria's peacetime army any officer who held the rank of colonel or higher in the wartime army.

The deputies met to continue drafting an Austrian peace treaty.

Ottawa Action Means No Gas Price Change

Removal of gasoline price control by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board will mean no change in gasoline prices in British Columbia but will require a formal change in the Coal and Petroleum Control Board's gasoline price orders, W. A. Cartrother, chairman of the board, said today.

The board's orders will be changed to include the federal wartime three-cent a gallon tax as a provincial tax. The provincial Legislature provided for this at the last session of the Legislature.

Taking over the federal tax by the province will increase the province's revenues from gasoline taxes by more than $2,000,000. On each gallon of gasoline B.C. motorists will pay 10 cents to the province after April 1 instead of seven cents to the province and three cents to the Dominion.

British Columbia has controlled gasoline prices since May, 1940. (See "Price Ceiling," Page 2)

Jewel Thieves Get 2-Year Sentences

Herbert Stanley Kelly, aged 21 of Steveston, B.C., and John Arthur Hefford, aged 21 years of Sydney, Nova Scotia, were each sentenced by Magistrate Hall today to serve two years in the penitentiary for the $4,000 jewelry theft in the store of J. M. Whitney Ltd., on March 9.

Hefford pleaded guilty to the charge when he appeared last Monday.

Kelly pleaded not guilty but was found guilty by Magistrate Hall this morning.

Magistrate Hall in summing up the evidence in the case, said he had arrived at the conclusion that the robbery was a joint operation. Kelly as lookout man and Hefford breaking in and collecting the jewelry.

Rehearing For Dismissed Police Urged In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—The action of the Vancouver police commission in demoting or dismissing 23 members of the police force brought condemnation from two organizations Wednesday night.

Gordon S. Scott, counsel for the Police Federal Association, issued a lengthy statement charging that Vancouver's three-man police commission had "set themselves above the law." "The highest court in the land cannot convict a man without a trial, but the board of police commissioners sets itself above the law and ignores the basic principle of British justice," he said. The union asked that the men be given a fair trial. They were receiving the "doubtful privilege of appealing their cases to the same board that dismissed them."

The British Columbia executive of the Canadian Legion, charging that "star chamber methods" were used in the recent police shake-up, also urged in a letter to the police commission that the men involved be given "fair and just treatment."

The Legion's letter, signed by provincial secretary Robert MacNicol, urged the commission to recognize the agreement with the Police Federal Association. Any attempt to repudiate the agreement "would be an effort to bolster up its irregular and unfair activities in investigation."

Mayor G. G. McGeer had announced previously that the commission was considering an appeal to the courts to declare their agreement with the police union "null and void."

Britain Welcomes Truman's Move To Aid Greece; Russia Still Silent

LONDON (AP)—Britain today officially welcomed President Truman's declaration on Greece and Turkey, and his recommendations to the United States Congress were received in Greek and Turkish official circles here with expressions ranging from "profound satisfaction" to "extreme joy."

A Foreign Office spokesman told a crowded press conference here:

"The British government welcomes Mr. Truman's statement to Congress. The views he expressed on the question of governments being imposed over sovereign states in Europe are very much in accord with our own views. And, on a number of occasions, we have conveyed those beliefs to certain governments whose elections have not been carried out in line with their pledges."

In Istanbul, Premier Recep Peker of Turkey said the President's "American and human speech" indicated the United States had awakened to the world situation. The Premier said he believed the speech reflected U.S. public opinion in a day when security was no longer a local problem.

DISCUSSED BY CABINET

Mr. Truman's message was discussed today at the British cabinet's regular weekly meeting, official sources disclosed.

These sources said Defence Minister Alexander and Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, chief of the Imperial General Staff, would meet with their advisers shortly to study the short-range and long-range implications of active U.S. participation in the Mediterranean.

Eddy Gilmore, chief of the Associated Press bureau in Moscow, said that when the Russians did speak "it is to be expected that President Truman's request for $400,000,000 to aid Greece and Turkey will be branded here as United States interference in the internal affairs of other nations."

"Russians unquestionably will take a serious view of the American president's proposal," Gilmore's Moscow dispatch said. "It can be said that no single action by the United States in many months, perhaps years, has caused such concern among the Russians as this one will. It is sure to be regarded as aimed at Russia."

Neither Pravda nor Izvestia, the Soviet Union's two principal newspapers, today published President Truman's speech; nor any excerpts from it. The papers did carry, however, two Tass stories from Washington concerning proposed loans and credit to Greece and Turkey.

The broadcast of the Truman statement by the United States station in the Russian language was hardly understood, if even heard here, because of bad atmospheres.

In other words, the Russian people know practically nothing about Truman's speech at the moment.

Communist circles in Greece expressed no pleasure at the proposal and London's Communist Daily Worker declared flatly that the real purpose of the United States "is to save the tottering rulers of Greece and the dictators of Turkey and to drive back the advancing forces of democracy."

GREEKS GRATEFUL

In Athens, Constantin Tsaldaris, Greek foreign minister, dispatched a message to Presidently would bring "utter joy" to Turks.

Most sections of the British press took a sober view of the newest development, with the Laborite Daily Herald expressing the view to many:

"If Americans believe the world's well-being rests on American might as a counter-force to Russia's, the prospect of an armed clash between the two greatest powers on earth becomes frighteningly clear. And such a clash, in the atom age, would finally destroy our sick civilization."

Price Ceiling Of Gasoline Off April 1, When Excise Removed

OTTAWA (CP)—The Prices Board announced Wednesday night that effective April 1 the price ceiling on gasoline and motor distillates will be removed and the Dominion excise tax of three cents a gallon on gasoline will be canceled, thus returning to the provinces another field of taxation taken by the Federal Government during the war.

In its announcement the board said the "price adjustments which may follow price decontrol of gasoline and tractor distillates will vary in different parts of Canada and will depend on the extent in which the cancellation of the Dominion excise tax will be offset by a new provincial tax in the various provinces or through increased laid-down costs to the refiners on imported crude oil."

Already British Columbia and Ontario have announced their intention to increase their own gasoline taxes by the amount of the canceled federal levy. It is believed other provinces may take similar action.

The Ontario action, announced in the provincial budget brought down Tuesday, will increase that province's tax from eight to 11 cents a gallon but will mean no increase to the motorist since it only replaces the Dominion levy being dropped. Likewise, there will be no increase to the motorist in British Columbia when that province increases its tax from seven to 10 cents.

The Prices Board said cancelling of the Dominion excise tax on gasoline, imposed as a wartime tax in 1941, was in accordance with an announcement by Finance Minister Abbott last December that it would be dropped April 1.

The board pointed out that at that time subsidies which were being paid on the importation of crude oil by refiners in the prairie provinces were canceled but the price ceiling on gasoline and tractor distillates was ordered maintained until the subsidized stocks of crude oil were used up.

The board said that the using up of these subsidized stocks will "pretty well coincide with the

Taxes Too High, Ladner Declares

VANCOUVER (CP)—Leon Ladner, Vancouver barrister, told members of the Young Progressive Conservative Association here Wednesday night that Canadian taxes were more than double what they should be in relation to the national income.

He said taxes were 30 per cent of the national income, which endangered the national economy. "It is impossible for any national economy to survive under these conditions," he said. "The normal relationship in percentage of taxes to national income should be around 10 or 12 per cent."

Confidence Vote Given Attlee On Recovery Plans

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee won a solid vote of confidence in the House of Commons Wednesday night after calling for "full co-operation of industry" with the government in Britain's fight for economic survival.

The Labor Party's big majority crushed a "no-confidence" vote, climax to three days of searching debate on the government's post-war recovery policy.

Then, by a vote of 371 to 204, the House agreed to "support the government in all practical measures" for reconstruction as outlined in a recent white paper—a rigorous program that calls for continued food rationing, electricity and coal restrictions and determined efforts to increase production.

Attlee struck back calmly and confidently at Conservative attacks on the Labor program, highlighted by Churchill's assertion that "the government cannot save the country and carry on class warfare and a Socialist program of nationalization at the same time."

"Nationalization is not being pushed for nationalization's sake," Attlee declared. "It is merely a means to an end—a fine life and standard for all people, putting the interests of the community before private interests."

The Prime Minister said a long range industrial plan was being prepared in consultation with industrial leaders. The government, he declared, wants "the full co-operation of industry."

Clearing Project Well-Started For 100 Homes At Lake Cowichan

LAKE COWICHAN—Clearing of some 25 acres at Lake Cowichan for 100 homes to be built under the Wartime Housing project, has been started here. Three acres have already been blasted and huge equipment is now on the job of clearing the land. The clearing project has been undertaken by Hillcrest Lumber Company Ltd. of Mesachie Lake, and Western Forest Industries Ltd. of Honeymoon Bay, in conjunction with the provincial government.

Officers Named

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Following the inaugural meeting of the Alberni District Junior Chamber of Commerce, in Port Alberni, Gene Scott was named president and Charles Patrick vice-president.

Those elected to the board of directors are: William Brooks, bank, George Trotter, Ted Stroyan and Doug McNicol. Archie Finlayson was appointed secretary and George Crozier treasurer.

Frank Wilson of New Westminster, regional director of the national body, presented the constitution to members.

Port Alberni Cuts School Estimates

PORT ALBERNI—School board estimates which called for a levy of 38.57 per cent from the city, were rejected by the city council, who advised Alberni School District No. 7, that Port Alberni would set a levy of 33 per cent, for the 1947 school budget.

Upon the city's action on estimates, the school board cited the necessity of employing five new elementary and three new high school teachers. Copies of a motion setting the tax levy for school purposes, were sent to the provincial department of education and the minister of municipal affairs, as well as to the school board.

Increases in staff and in annual increments to teachers, were referred to by school trustees.

In the opinion of Mayor W. C. Hamilton, crux of the situation lay in the fact, estimates were based on the actual assessment or actual value of property, whereas they should be based on fixed assessments which existed on large holdings, such as the mills.

Tabulate Traffic On Cowichan Road

MESACHIE LAKE—Opinion is expressed here that the new budget allotment for repairing and surfacing of roads will be sufficient to place Lake Cowichan road and also the South Shore road (Burma Road) into first class highways.

A tabulator was placed at a given point at Mesachie Lake, and these are the figures on traffic passing over this short section of road (7½ miles in 24 hours): 112 trucks, 26 buses and 178 cars, giving a total of 316 vehicles.

In compiling these figures it is stressed that this tabulation was taken on a week-day and a dull and wet day. Traffic figures for a fine day and traffic figures at the holding week-end when visitors and extra buses run, will be taken later.

Those taking the tabulation felt that had the road been in good condition the number traveling over it would have been greatly increased.

Parksville Legion Plans Activities

Robert Abbott supplied music for the dancing which concluded the evening.

Const. H. J. Parsley is trustee chairman and Warren Banks is mayor of Teen Town.

Trail Workers' Union To Vote

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—Don Berry, business manager of local 480, International Union of Mine, Mills and Smelter Workers (C.I.O.) indicated Wednesday that a referendum vote of union members would be held March 14 to decide whether or not the union will continue to operate under terms of its existing agreement with Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada Ltd.

Under terms of the agreement, two months' notice of termination must be given by either party before a new agreement may be negotiated.

Berry did not indicate what the union's demands would be, should its membership approve the giving notice of termination.

India Riots Spread

NEW DELHI (Reuter)—Troops were standing by in Northwest Frontier Province towns under a curfew Wednesday as the wave of riots spread from the Punjab to Peshawar and other districts where the Moslem against the ban on meetings and processions.

A delayed government communiqué from Peshawar said one person was killed and 10 wounded when troops "opened fire on a crowd tampering with a railway line near the city Monday. On the same day there were 17 stabbings in Peshawar, three with fatal results. A 12-hour curfew was imposed.

Princesses Moved By Sight Of Lepers

MASERU, BASUTOLAND, South Africa (Reuter)—When Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret inspected 400 Basuto native Girl Guides here Wednesday they noticed a separate busload of guides at the side of the grounds.

When told they were lepers who were not allowed outside the bus, the Princesses went over and walked around the bus a few feet from the young people watching through the windows.

Tears were observed in the Princesses' eyes as they waved goodbye.

Ration Of Sugar To Be Increased By 14% April 1

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott announced Wednesday afternoon in the Commons an increase of 14 per cent in the Canadian individual sugar ration will become effective April 1.

Mr. Abbott said the standard consumer ration of seven coupons each quarter will be increased to eight coupons. Each coupon is good for one pound of sugar.

The home-canning allowance of 10 pounds of sugar a person will remain unchanged for the present, although the Prices Board "hopes to be able" to validate two or three extra coupons during the fruit harvesting season.

Speaking of the sugar situation generally, Mr. Abbott said the continued world shortage made it "obvious that we cannot anticipate the elimination of sugar rationing for at least another 12 months."

SHORT OF REQUIREMENTS

He said the total of the available world supplies for 1947 showed "an encouraging improvement" over 1946, but still fell "considerably short" of meeting current requirements.

He also announced that the industrial sugar ration, which now is 70 per cent of 1941 usage, will be raised to 80 per cent, while biscuit and cereal manufacturers will receive a 10-point increase to 85 per cent and bakers a similar boost to 90 per cent.

Equivalent increases will be extended to "quota users"—hotels, restaurants and institutions.

"On the most optimistic assumption relating to crop out-turns, the 1947 allocation to Canada (which for statistical purposes includes our domestic beet sugar production) will provide us with 93 pounds of raw sugar per capita, which is equal to 87 pounds of refined sugar.

"If, on the other hand, we take a conservative view of crop prospects, we will have about 86 pounds of raw sugar, or about 80 pounds in terms of refined. These figures may be compared with actual supplies of 81 pounds refined in 1946, 95 pounds as our average prewar consumption, and 103 pounds per capita in the peak year of 1941.

"In other words, we can expect an improvement in 1947 of not less than 12 per cent and probably not more than 20 per cent in comparison with 1946. But even this improved rate of supply will be at least 20 to 25 per cent below what I might call the unrestricted or unrationed demand."

Boxcar Shortage Not Yet Relieved

WINNIPEG (CP)—Chief Commissioner George McIvor of the Canadian Wheat Board said Wednesday the rescinding of the federal government's priority order holding boxcars for shipment of export grain "must not be interpreted... as meaning the crisis with respect to grain transportation no longer exists."

The grain transportation remained desperate, he said in a 500-word statement, and the only valid reason for abandoning the priority, in effect for two weeks, "is that the railways on their own initiative, can supply the necessary cars and motive power to move promptly the balance of the 1946 crop."

The problem now is "right up to the railways."

The board has advised the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways that average car loadings of 900 cars a day are necessary between now and July 31 to move the present country elevator stocks—estimated at more than 71,000,000 bushels—and expected producers' marketings.

Quebec Labor Group Presents Requests At Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Outlawing of the Labor-Progressive Party, creation of a distinctive Canadian flag and compulsory voting in elections were among moves sought of the federal government today by the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor.

Officers of the confederation, representing 65,000 workers in Quebec province, met cabinet members and presented their annual brief.

Maintenance of price and rent controls, reduction in the income tax, preservation of "provincial autonomy" in any national labor code and amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act were among other matters sought by the Confederation.

Further proposals were:

1. Banning of industrial work—including repairs—on Sundays.
2. Increasing family allowances in proportion to the cost of living, with removal of the present reduction after the fifth child.
3. Action to curb international cartels.
4. Appointment of a Canadian ambassador to the Vatican.
5. Spending of any amount necessary to provide employment for all workers through peacetime public works projects.
6. No broadening of the Immigration Act while Canada has unemployed and her own people are migrating to the United States.
7. Provision of more housing and "severe" dealing with the black market in housing materials.
8. Increase in old age pensions to $30 a month, with the age minimum lowered to 65 years for men and 60 for women.
9. Appointment of more French-Canadian federal officials.

GOVERNMENT'S EASY VICTORIES

DESPITE THE FACT THAT THE KING government enjoys a majority of only five over all other parties in the House of Commons, two non-confidence motions yesterday were disposed of by 134 to 84 and 211 to 13, respectively. In the major test, the Progressive Conservatives were joined by the C.C.F.; in the other, the Social Credit Party stood alone.

Neither Mr. Bracken nor Mr. Coldwell was able to extract much consolation from the result of this first attempt at the present session of Parliament to discount the administration's conduct of the nation's business. It does not follow that Mr. King and his ministerial colleagues will fare as well in subsequent manifestations of opposition displeasure. What must be causing the leader of the Progressive Conservative Party considerable uneasiness, however, is his utter inability to impress the public by his methods of registering his disapproval of the government of the day. If Mr. Bracken does not know that the average Canadian is no longer interested in destructive criticism, in sheer obstructionist tactics, or in anything which does not contribute to the common weal, that is Mr. Bracken's fault.

Nothing the chief opposition spokesman said in support of his non-confidence motion added to his personal prestige or to the influence of the party over whose destinies he presides. Prominent Progressive Conservatives, of course, if they were to be honest with themselves, would openly admit that the King administration has acquitted itself well—and is meeting the wishes of the majority of the Canadian people when it refuses to be stampeded in its policy of gradual reconversion from a wartime to a peacetime economy. Certainly it has made mistakes; it will probably make many more before the world is much older. But it is entitled to full credit because its mistakes have been so few. And Mr. Coldwell is too keen a student of the national political and business scene to allow himself the luxury of any prediction that the country is ready for Socialist planning and management—Saskatchewan's first C.C.F. government notwithstanding.

Nobody will suggest that a top-heavy majority is either good for a political party in power or in the best interests of the public. Nor will it be seriously argued that the King government abused the mandate with which the Canadian people entrusted it in the war years—1940 to 1945. The failure of the opposition to shake the administration's foundations yesterday, moreover, is new evidence that neither Progressive Conservative nor C.C.F. argument is sufficiently potent to reflect national political unrest.

INSTRUMENT OF CRIME

CAR THEFTS BY ADOLESCENTS CAN no longer be excused as pranks. The satisfaction of a craving for "joy-riding" in no way reduces the crime of stealing another's property. The action calls for severe counter measures, particularly in view of the manner in which the automobile has become an essential tool in the type of robbery all too frequent these days.

A car is a get-away instrument, and because felons seek to conceal their identity, the stolen automobile is preferable to one which, through personal ownership, might connect them more closely with any particular escapade.

It seems logical, moreover, to assume that the youth who will steal an automobile—whose scruples are elastic enough to permit that theft—is the type who will not be deterred from committing a more serious crime. The day for lenient assessment of car thefts is past.

WHO IS AT CROSSROADS?

IN ITS EDITORIAL COLUMNS THE other day the Vancouver Daily Province agreed with certain observations to which Mr. W. A. C. Bennett, Conservative-Coalition member for South Okanagan, gave voice in respect of some of the policies of the Hart-Anscomb administration. However, when our mainland contemporary endorses the contention that the bi-partisan government has reached "the crossroads," and that "it has seen the writing on the wall," it is merely paving the air. We do not quite know what the following statement means:

"Needless to say, British Columbia would be delighted if the Coalition would take itself seriously, check up on its health and resources, and prospects and make arrangements to continue to live and be useful. It would be a sad day if the Coalition were to decide to commit suicide. But it is for the Coalition alone to decide. No one else can do anything much about it. As Mr. Bennett told the Legislature in a speech of refreshing frankness, the people of this province would like to know where the Coalition is going."

It is not surprising that Mr. Bennett who, with the assistance and support of the senior member for Point Grey, sought to capture the leadership of the British Columbia Progressive Conservative Party at its convention in Vancouver in the early summer of last year, is not happy in the political sense. In these columns on June 17, 1946, we said:

"According to the Canadian Press description, of the convention's election of the new leader, the proceedings were 'livened' by an address from Mrs. Tully Bolton, Coalition member of the Legislature for Point Grey, who nominated the South Okanagan contender. She is reported to have 'criticized the government for failing to place a woman in a cabinet post during the recent reorganization, and Mr. Bennett, in accepting the nomination, promised to remedy her complaint.'"

It would be unkind on our part to suggest who is at the crossroads—the Vancouver Daily Province, the Progressive Conservative Coalition member for South Okanagan, or the Progressive Conservative Coalition member for Point Grey. And if Mr. Bennett, or the Vancouver newspaper which gives him an editorial pat on the back, is still worried about the future fate of the Coalition administration of this province, now is the time to tell its supporters in the Legislature what ought to be done about it. Nobody else seems to share the mainland newspaper's alarm over its health.

STILL COMING TO B.C.

FURTHER EMPHATIC EVIDENCE THAT "Business is Moving to B.C." was provided yesterday in the important announcement by Hon. E. T. Kenney, Minister of Lands and Forests, that the Celanese Corporation of America intends to install a $15,000,000 subsidiary plant on Watson Island, eight miles southeast of Prince Rupert. The magnitude of this undertaking is indicated in the statement that the concern will employ 1,000 men and will have a production of between 200 and 400 tons a day.

Nor are benefits furnished by this imposing development restricted solely to the employment it will provide citizens of this province and such new settlers as may be attracted to it. The arrangement breaks new ground in the field of relationships between industry and public administration, or, as Mr. Kenney put it:

"This will be unique from the standpoint of forest utilization in the North American continent in that it will be the first big arrangement whereby government and business combine forces to perpetuate timber resources by scientific management and at the same time maintain a continued supply of timber for industrial purposes."

In other words, the Celanese Corporation project appears to represent that happy marriage between public and private enterprise under which this province expects vigorous expansion.

Apart from the manner in which the plan will bring into peacetime use the wartime docking facilities constructed by the United States adjacent to Prince Rupert, the investment of capital entailed in the scheme furnishes further proof of the confidence British Columbia now enjoys among major industrial concerns looking for new fields of development. That condition, incidentally, has been emphasized in the March 8 issue of The Financial Post, which devotes numerous pages to progress made by this province in basic and secondary industries.

The complete industrial picture is one to strengthen the faith of Canadians in general and British Columbians in particular in the energetic development of those resources with which the Pacific Coast has been so bountifully endowed.

POST MAN RINGS THRICE

READERS OF THE SATURDAY EVENING Post have been offered, in three recent issues, a series of articles by Edgar Snow, a writer who enjoys wide respect among students of international affairs, particularly those concerned with the Russian scene—a man who is persona non grata with elements of the Chinese right wing and, who is, with certain reservations, the fair-haired boy of Russophiles. Mr. Snow is the type who invites confidence through his apparent desire for honesty, a factual reporter who seems to look at both sides of an issue and to set forth what he believes to be right, whether or not his presentations are of a nature to assuage his critics.

Mr. Snow's articles have been published with a view to interpreting Russia for an American public which appears none too inclined to look for merit in an alien ideology. Readers in this country will judge the series by their own standards. It is interesting, however, to note the response reported to them by Richard Strouse in the New Republic of New York:

"The articles are drawing one of the heaviest mail responses in Post history. The early letters ran four to one in favor of Snow's attitude. His personal mail, while following the same general pattern, has included a high quota of die-hard, anti-Semite newspaper clipping, and several pointed references to the speech before the American Legion in which J. Edgar Hoover pointed out that 'Communist influence has projected itself into some newspapers, magazines, books, radio and the screen.' As letters from the unconstructed hinterland began coming in, criticism increased. By the end of last week (March 1), roughly half the letters both to the Post and to Snow opposed Snow's conclusions."

Regardless of the division of opinion, however, the important fact remains that the articles have been given a circulation that ranks among the highest on the continent. They have been read by the people of a nation in which now stands as the strongest champion of a way of life directly opposed to that of the U.S.S.R. Through them, the men and women of the United States have been given a glimpse at the other side of the lantern. Such presentations make material contributions to greater international understanding. And if Mr. Snow has suggested the United States' halo is not quite straight, any implied criticism of that country comes with good grace from one of its own citizens. The articles at least are a salutary change from those which reflect with suitable western undertones, the destructive criticisms of other nations which are so frequently sounded by Pravda, Izvestia and other one-eyed observers of the outside world.

THE NETTLE OF THE MIDDLE EAST

EVERYONE RECOGNIZES that what is called the Greek crisis is only a first installment of a very much greater challenge, arising from the fact that the British Empire is no longer able to do what it has done for more than a century—that is to block the expansion of the Russian Empire into the Mediterranean, the Middle East, and into the Persian Gulf and the Indian Ocean.

The United States is compelled to act because the collapse of Greece, Turkey and Iran would precipitate unmanageable turmoil and disorder, conflict and violence in Europe and in Asia. If there is ever to be a negotiated and peaceable settlement with the Soviet Union, a balance of power at the line of its present sphere of influence must be maintained. This is the irreducible minimum condition under which a negotiated settlement is conceivable.

THE CRUCIAL QUESTION is how, and not whether, the United States can most wisely and effectively accept this new and heavy responsibility in the Middle East. For the U.S. is not now a Middle Eastern power. That is to say she has no foothold in that region from which American power can be exerted. The Russians do have. They are in the Balkans, in the Caucasus, and they control the Black Sea. The British have had, and still have though precariously, a foothold in Greece, Cyprus, Egypt, Palestine, Trans-Jordan, Iraq, at Malta, Suez, Aden and the Persian Gulf.

The United States, though it has no foothold of its own in the whole region, is now challenged to take the primary responsibility as against the Soviet Union in preserving the balance of power and of maintaining international law and order.

The apparent way for the United States to become one of the two leading powers of the Middle East is to reinforce the British in some of their positions and gradually to replace them in other positions.

THE MOST IMPORTANT question that Americans have to examine is whether this is the wisest, whether it is feasible, whether it is the only way, the United States can assume the new responsibility of a principal Middle Eastern power.

Perhaps it is. It is the easiest policy to offer the American people, in that it can be presented bit by bit, as a request for a little money, a little diplomatic and technical assistance, without facing up to its larger implications. But I am not sure but that a bolder course, which is to grasp the nettle firmly at the outset, would not be the wiser.

Turkey is the key country in the Middle East. It is subject to such pressure from the Soviet Union that it is compelled to keep a large army mobilized. It cannot support that army much longer. Yet until there has been a settlement of the Soviet demands at the Dardanelles and on the eastern borderland, Turkey must maintain sufficient military power.

THE ISSUE FOR THE United States is whether financial aid alone is the best remedy for this condition. To be sure financial aid will have to be given. But if with the financial aid the U.S. offered the Turkish government a military guaranty, consistent with Article 51 of the Charter, she would, I believe, have grasped the nettle. With that guaranty the Turkish government could afford to demobilize a considerable part of its army. The financial assistance would then not need to be used up on unproductive military expenditure but could in part be applied by strengthening the economic life of Turkey.

The advantages of such a move on the part of the U.S. are many. It would make clear by the most emphatic of all diplomatic actions that the United States is now a primary and not a secondary power in the Middle East. The prestige of such a move would do the work of many Turkish divisions and of many American dollars.

IT CANNOT BE ARGUED, I believe, that such an offer on America's part would increase her military commitments or would be contrary to the letter and spirit of the Charter of the United Nations. For if Turkey is attacked, the United States is committed to go to her defence. The value of making a specific guaranty now is that it is likely to prevent the Soviet government from doing anything which looks safe enough when begun, but could easily be irreparable. To know from the outset that they are dealing not with a weakened Turkey but with the United States is the more likely way to make the men in the Kremlin cautious.

On the other hand, if the worst happened, an alliance with Turkey would afford the U.S. a strategic foothold, incomparably better than any other, from which to exert power in the Middle East. The most important defensive position is also the most important offensive position. That is why, if the United States is serious about the power in the Middle East.

THE FATE OF THE Middle East cannot be decided at the points where Great Britain is now involved—that is to say in the Arab countries, and in Iran, and in Greece. Those are the rear areas of the Middle East which can be defended now, as they have been governed through the greater part of history, only from Turkey, that principal stronghold which faces the west on the Mediterranean coast and Russia on the Black Sea.

To do all that is necessary to make Turkey secure is, therefore, so it seems to me, the effective way to meet the challenge which confronts the United States.

Spain's Republicans Reform Ranks

(Spanish Information Service)

THE members of the new Spanish government - in exile formed last month after the resignation of former Prime Minister Giral, are as follows:

Rodolfo Llopias, Socialist, president of the council (prime minister) and minister of foreign affairs.
Manuel de Irujo, Basque Nationalist, minister of justice.
Miguel Santalo, Catalan Nationalist, minister of education.
Fernando Valera, Republican, minister of finance.
Julio Just, Republican, minister of interior and defence.
Vicente Uribe, Communist, minister of economy.
Trifon Gomez, U.G.T., minister of education.

A representative of the C.N.T., not yet designated, to be minister of information.

Rodolfo Llopias, the prime minister in this cabinet, is at the same time the secretary-general of the Spanish Socialist Party (Partido Socialista Obrero Espanol). The P.S.O.E. was the most important political organization in Spain during the period of the Republic. In the elections of June, 1931, in which the various parties ran independently, it won 115 seats in the Cortes, a total higher than that attained by any other single party. In the elections held on February 16, 1936, running on the popular front slate, it won 89, again the highest figure attained. This party was founded in the last quarter of the 19th century, and its outstanding leader was Pablo Iglesias. He adhered to the Second Socialist International, and in spite of his Marxist tendencies, was closer to the British Fabian concept of Socialism than to that of the German Social Democrats. During the civil war the Spanish Socialist party, without actually becoming disrupted, manifested three tendencies, inspired by the three Socialist leaders, Francisco Largo Caballero, who was prime minister during the early days of the war; Indalecio Prieto, who as minister of war, was at one time the most powerful figure in the cabinet, and Juan Negrin, prime minister during the latter period of the war.

On the other hand, Prieto represented the right wing, Negrin the centre, and Largo Caballero the left. This classification, however, was upset by the position which the various wings took with relation to the Communist Party. On the basis of that position, the Spanish Socialist Party split into two groups, the Prieto-Largo Caballero group who wanted no unity of action with the Spanish Communist Party, and the Juan Negrin group, who favored such unity.

After the defeat of the republic, the Prieto and Largo Caballero groups drew closer together, while the split between them and the minority group led by Juan Negrin widened. Largo Caballero was arrested by the Germans in France and spent a long period in a concentration camp. He was finally liberated by the

POLITICAL DIVISIONS

In political terms, Prieto represented the right wing, Negrin the centre, and Largo Caballero the left. This classification, however, was upset by the position which the various wings took with relation to the Communist Party. On the basis of that position, the Spanish Socialist Party split into two groups, the Prieto-Largo Caballero group who wanted no unity of action with the Spanish Communist Party, and the Juan Negrin group, who favored such unity.

After the defeat of the republic, the Prieto and Largo Caballero groups drew closer together, while the split between them and the minority group led by Juan Negrin widened. Largo Caballero was arrested by the Germans in France and spent a long period in a concentration camp. He was finally liberated by the Russian advance, and after a brief sojourn in Moscow, he went back to Paris, where he died in 1946. Before his death, he stressed the necessity for re-establishing the unity of the Socialist Party with a more moderate platform and with complete independence from the Communists.

Rodolfo Llopias was a follower of Largo Caballero, and was the secretary-general of the office of the prime minister during the period when Largo Caballero held that post.

BASQUE REPRESENTATIVE

Manuel de Irujo is a member of the Basque Nationalist Party one of whose most outstanding members is Jose Antonio de Aguirre, president of the autonomous government of Euzkadi (Basque country). Irujo represents this party in the government, and by implication represents also the Basque government and all the Basque autonomous parties and organizations.

Miguel Santalo is a member of the Esquerra Republicana de Catalunya, the party of the Catalan autonomist movement. Francisco Macia and Lluís Companys, who were successively, presidents of the Generalitat de Catalunya (Catalan autonomous government) were members of this party. Santalo represents the Esquerra in the Llopias government and, by implication, the Catalan government under President Josep Irga and all the Catalan nationalist parties and organizations.

Fernando Valera represents Union Republicana, a centrist Republican party, one of whose most prominent personalities is Diego Martinez Barrio, President of the Spanish Republic.

Julio Just represents Izquierda Republicana, a moderate Republican party founded by the late President of the Spanish Republic, Manuel Azana, who died in France in 1940.

COMMUNIST ELEMENT

Vicente Uribe is the representative of the Spanish Communist Party. This party for all practical purposes came into being in the early days of the republic and is small but well organized. In the elections of 1931 it won no seats in the Cortes. In 1933 it gained one seat. In the elections of 1936, when its candidates ran as members of the Popular Front rather than of the Communist Party, it gained 16. The secretary-general of the Communist Party is Dolores Ibaruri, known as La Pasionaria.

Trifon Gomez is the representative of the Union General de Trabajadores. The U.G.T., which before the civil war claimed a membership of 1,500,000, is a labor organization of Socialist tendencies. The members of this organization are distributed geographically in Asturias (miners), Bilbao (steel foundry workers), Madrid and the agricultural regions of central and western Spain. Trifon Gomez is considered a very close political friend of Indalecio Prieto.

The Confederacion Nacional del Trabajo, from whose ranks the minister of information is to be chosen, is a labor organization which also had about 1,500,000 members before the civil war. It is essentially a non-political organization which considers itself the representative of trade unionism in its purest form. Its a-politicalism and its liberal concept of life and the state have a certain kinship with the outlook of the anarchists. The geographical distribution of its members covers Catalonia, with the great manufacturing centre of Barcelona, Aragon and all of the Levantine coast of Valencia and Andalusia. If the U.G.T. is supported by the miners, the workers in heavy industry and the landless peasants who work on the big estates, the C.N.T. finds its support among the workers of the light industries, such as textiles and chemicals, and the share croppers. Within the C.N.T. was born a political action group called the Federation Anarquista Iberica (F.A.I.) whose relationship to the C.N.T. might be compared to the relationship between the C.I.O. and the P.A.C., although the traditions and aims of C.N.T. are in themselves much closer to those of the A.F.L. than to those of the newer American organization. During the civil war, and even more since its termination, the attempts of the F.A.I. to dominate the C.N.T. have lost ground. The pure trade unionist tendency is now uppermost.

Therefore, the Llopias government includes the representatives of all the political and social organizations which supported the Republican regime with the exception of the small Socialist minority headed by Juan Negrin, whose representative in the United States is Julio Alvarez del Vayo, and the F.A.I. minority in the C.N.T. This government has the full support of the Alianza Nacional de Fuerzas Democraticas, which is the underground organization inside Spain. The Catalan and Basque underground organizations support the Llopias government through the Catalan and Basque representatives in his cabinet.

SAFEGUARDS

Red Cross Dispatch
Every year over 1,000 Canadians meet death by drowning. The Red Cross Swimming and Water Safety program is designed to increase the number of qualified swimmers in every community and thereby combat this high fatality rate. To accomplish this, instructors' schools are held regularly. Potential instructors attending these classes do so at the expense of the Red Cross, that they may return home to various Red Cross branches fully qualified to teach swimming and water safety wherever there is need. Last year, from January to December, 442 instructors held 896 classes with a total enrolment of 16,195.

EPISODE IN SICILY

Ottawa Citizen
Was General Montgomery disconcerted to General MacNaughton, when the latter wanted to visit the Canadian troops in Sicily in the summer of 1943?

The true explanation, according to Gen. de Guingand, Gen. Montgomery's chief of staff, is that it was the Canadian division's first campaign. Their commander (Maj. Gen. Guy Simonds) was young and hoping to win his spurs. General Montgomery felt that it was unfair to let him be subjected to the extra strain such a visit would impose, and so as to protect his subordinate he himself decided to shoulder a certain amount of criticism.

"This eminently sensible interpretation of the affair deserves to be the final one."

GOOD ADVICE

Prince Rupert News
It is good advice that some of us in these parts might do well to shake out the cobwebs of mere self-interest and get together with broader vision and more generous effort towards the development of community and country so that the interests of both nation and world might be better served and that mutual benefit might at the same time redound.

And what goes for communities and districts of this area might well go for provinces and nations. Certainly, new vision and outlook must be applied along the broadest lines if peace and security are to be achieved and sustained.

As has been suggested, what some of us may need is not new glasses but radar to extend our limited vision to true perspective and lift us out of our depression complex.

QUESTION OF PROPRIETY

Ottawa Journal
In the House of Commons, Mr. Donald Fleming, Progressive Conservative, questioned the propriety of Food Minister John Strachey discussing in Canada a question that was in controversy before the Canadian Parliament.

Mr. Fleming, we think, was right. If at this time a Canadian cabinet minister visiting Britain undertook to comment on things in dispute between Mr. Attlee and Mr. Churchill, somebody in Britain could properly advise him to mind his own business. The same rule, under similar circumstances, applies to a British cabinet minister visiting here.

Mr. John Strachey is a young politician who has come a long way since he was writing "The Decay of Capitalist Civilization" and "The Coming Struggle for Power." Perhaps after he has more experience of office and responsibility and discovers what British Commonwealth government is about he will avoid such mistakes as that for which properly he has been taken to task.

THESE MEN IN BLUE
Kamloups Sentinel
The deaths of two Vancouver policemen—in the line of duty—reminds us of that which we often forget . . . that to the men charged with the administration of justice we owe the quiet pursuit of life.

The police forces are the "thin blue line" that protects our homes and lives and properties. They fight a never-ending battle. Usually it is a humdrum fight, but at any moment it may blaze forth into violence.

The tragic deaths of these two young policemen should cause us to ask ourselves a couple of questions. Do we pay our policemen enough and do we make adequate provision for the dependents of those who are killed or maimed while doing their duty?

Music At Work

Australian News
AUSTRALIAN factory workers may soon be toiling to symphonies written especially for them. Experiments in Sydney, New South Wales, have shown that the "music while you work" idea frequently proved more irritating to the workers than the noise of their machines. To combat this, tests were made to discover types of music which blended with factory noises. It was found that some types roughly harmonized with certain noises.

SPECIAL TYPES

The experimenters believe that the next step is to develop special music for particular industries. That "music while you work" is here to stay, however, is shown by manufacturers' general acceptance of the scale of performing fees introduced by the Australian Performing Rights Association, recently. Factories had been granted complimentary licenses as a patriotic gesture. Now they will have to pay an annual fee calculated on the period for which music is played and the number of listening employees. A minimum fee of $6.82 covers 500 employees for half-an-hour music a day.

Esquimalt Students Hold Own 'Trials'

The Students' Court in session for "a mock trial." Left to right: Fred Sherwood, defence attorney; Betty Webb, clerk of court; Warren Pready, witness; John MacDonald, judge; Jimmy Wright, accused; Bill Floyd, prosecuting attorney. Standing behind the judge, left to right, are Michael Hanna and Bill Stephenson as sergeants-at-arms. Jurors shown, left to right, are Joan Morris, Georgina McDonald, Maxine Smalley, Dave Buxton, Howard Gillard and Fred Merriman.

By AILEEN CAMPBELL
The judge looked firm, the prosecuting attorney pointed a finger of accusation, while counsel for the defence rose to dispute a method of procedure. It might have been a court of law, but the judge was 16 and the attorneys 17, at a mock trial held in the recreation room of Esquimalt High School, Tuesday.

The trial was held to inaugurate the Student's Court at the school, an organization which came into existence March 1. "The main idea behind the court is to promote citizenship in school and to give school students a better idea of how to govern themselves," C. A. Kelly, principal, said. The mock trial was a try-out for student courts to follow.

The court has nothing to do with classroom procedure, or the actual discipline at school, but will deal with such offences as smoking at any school function, improper language at any school activity, theft, insolence to prefects, making unnecessary noise in corridors and the like," said Mr. Kelly.

The court comprises a judge, clerk, two sergeants-at-arms, two prosecuting attorneys, six jurors and a maximum of five lawyers. Organization of the court was favored by a 3 to 1 majority of the students who voted on the question.

"I think it is really a good thing," John MacDonald, the court's judge, was in full agreement with Sherwood, as were other participants in the trial. Hispaniola, the name which Columbus gave to the New World, means, "Little Spain."

Principal C. A. Kelly of Esquimalt High School answers a question of John MacDonald, 16-year-old judge of the Students' Court, before mock trial of Jimmy Wright, 17-year-old grade 12 student, takes place in the school gym Tuesday. Warren Pready, witness, is in the witness box. Directly behind him are two of the six jurors.

Planned Land Settlement Future Policy Of Province

The day of pioneer settlers in British Columbia, which still has millions of acres of land for development, is gone. In the future settlement will not be by the haphazard, hit-and-miss manner of previously but on a scientific basis with settlement units in some cases actually laid out in advance.

This was made clear Wednesday in the B.C. Legislature by Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney, in the final speech of the budget debate.

In future, instead of going to areas about which they know nothing, without schools or roads or other facilities, settlers in British Columbia will choose their land for settlement from maps, photographs and written descriptions which will give a mass of information on the land, the best uses to which it may be put, and the available facilities.

Mr. Kenney said land settlement will be restricted to suitable areas where the prospects of success will be analysed before-hand and lands suitable for settlement will be divided into areas of size sufficient to allow a good living and a reasonable profitable operation, co-ordinating other uses with agriculture, such as wood-lots, trapping, fur-farming and "dude-ranching."

Information on these land units will be available at district land offices and in Victoria and some of it may be available in the Agent-General's office in London, England. The land will be available for sale or lease.

VETERAN PREFERENCE

Mr. Kenney made it clear that veterans would be given preference and co-operation with the Provincial Agriculture Department's land clearing division will be maintained so that the new settlers will get benefits as soon as possible.

The provincial government will also co-operate with the Dominion government if any immigration scheme is contemplated, Mr. Kenney said, and co-operation would be maintained with the Dominion government in their land reclamation schemes and irrigation projects.

Mr. Kenney said that three field parties would undertake land utilization research this year, while soil surveys this year would probably be concentrated in the Peace River district because of the increasing demand for settlement lands there.

No development of resources was possible without maps, said Mr. Kenney, reviewing both aerial and ground survey work in the past.

Legislation will be presented to authorize the government to enter into agreements with the Dominion government and local communities for development under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act, he said.

IRRIGATION DEVELOPMENT

"Such agreements, it is to be hoped will result in considerable development of irrigation as well as dyking and drainage schemes," he said, noting that $20,000,000 had been spent in other provinces on this work during the past 10 years.

Mr. Kenney said some legislation would be necessary to implement the recommendations of Dean F. M. Clement in his report on drainage and dyking costs as some of the districts were set up by statute.

"I fully expect that the necessary legislation will be brought in to cover such recommendations as will be implemented," he said.

"In so far as irrigation is concerned we have sufficient authority to deal with his recommendations by regulation with the possible exception of one item, which may require legislation. This item is still under advisement."

Mr. Kenney said the welfare of irrigation, dyking and drainage district was not alone one of local importance but provincial and national as well.

"The problem is to secure sufficient water for a season's use at a cost within economic or commercial limits," he said.

Mrs. Hodges Urges Stricter Censorship For Sordid Films

An appeal for stricter censoring of sordid films shown in B.C. was made in the B.C. Legislature Wednesday by Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Coalition, Victoria.

All thinking people realized a great deal of the juvenile delinquency found in the province at present was due to gangster films which presented crime in a glamorized form, she said. In addition, she pointed out, in pictures where the penalties of a criminal life were pointed out, the "crime does not pay" moral often came in at the very end of the picture after the damage, through glamorizing crime, had been done.

There was a much publicized picture scheduled to come to the province soon, she said, reading a description of the picture in which nearly every crime committable occurred during the 135 minutes in which the picture took to show, including murder, rape, attempted fratricide, drunkenness, and prostitution. Mrs. Hodges did not give the name of the picture, saying she did not want to give it free publicity. Already, she pointed out, numerous groups had registered objection to the picture with the result that the publicity had caused box office receipts to go up 30 per cent.

H. E. Winch, C.C.F. Opposition Leader, said he agreed with everything Mrs. Hodges said of the situation, but reminded the legislature a bill, covering the matter would come down for a second reading this session.

Bill To Encourage Prospector In B.C.

Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney told the B.C. Legislature Wednesday amendments to the Petroleum and Natural Gas Act, designed to assist in the development of British Columbia's resources, would be presented to the Legislature at the current session.

The legislation was designed to encourage prospecting and development which he said was imminent, while protecting the people's interest in the resources. He said there were many geological formations in B.C. that warranted study and testing and which were the object of interest by many of the large and small oil companies.

In B.C., where most of the petroleum is held under reserve to the crown, there was not the incentive to private interests to prospect for it, he said.

"In spite of very definite geological signs of petroleum under ground the oil companies have not felt like spending the large amounts necessary in developing wells," he said. "Because of certain conditions in our laws the companies have not felt like entering British Columbia, but apparently want to do so."

Detailed Answer On C.C.F. Liquor Charges

Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer, in the B.C. Legislature Wednesday, promised a detailed answer by Liquor Commissioner W. F. Kennedy to charges by C.C.F. Opposition Leader Harold E. Winch that B.C. could have had all the high-quality rum it wanted for more than a year past if the Liquor Control Board had been willing to take it.

Approximately a year ago, Mr. Winch said, he had been approached by agents who said they could provide all the rum the province wanted. Mr. Winch in turn approached the L.C.B. and was told the rum would not meet the requirements of the board, which, among other requirements, wanted rum at least two years old. The rum being offered, Mr. Winch said, was four years old and of high quality.

Later, he charged, he discovered it was not a matter of age, but government policy not to buy an imported rum if the agency was held by a Canadian distiller. He maintained a very similar condition existed in the matter of imported European wines.

BABY'S CRY IS NOT ALWAYS TEMPER

DISTINGUISH between your baby's cry of pain and cry of temper. The "pain cry" should save instant attention. For the feverish distress due to gas on stomach or bowels or those common digestive upsets, give Baby's Own Tablets at once. Mrs. May Mundy, of Toronto, says they work every time.

"I am the mother of nine children, three of them prize babies and Baby's Own Tablets have been my only medicine in raising them to be healthy children they now are. As soon as my children became a little feverish I at once gave them Baby's Own Tablets and in a very short time the fever disappeared and the children were normal again."

Equally effective for constipation, upset stomach, teething troubles and other minor ailments of babies.

Quickly effective. Sweet-tasting—easily swallowed, in a powder, if desired. No "after-effects"—no drowsiness. Get a package today. Success often strikes in the night. 25 cents. Money back if you are not satisfied.

Gives Blood To New Red Cross Service

Among the first group of voluntary donors in British Columbia to give blood to the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service were 200 sailors of the Canadian aircraft carrier H.M.C.S. Warrior. Dr. Walter Rice, provincial medical director of the service in B.C. is shown when he was on board the carrier preparing a sea-going volunteer for his donation. Of the $5,000,000 sought by the society in their 1947 national Red Cross appeal, now under way, $1,037,500 is budgeted to establish and maintain the free National Blood Transfusion Service throughout Canada.

No Other Ties For Cabinet Ministers, Winch's Suggestion

E. E. Winch, C.C.F. member for Burnaby, recommended in the Legislature Wednesday that all cabinet ministers be required to give up their private businesses while serving on the cabinet.

He first directed his attention to Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer, saying he did not think it right for the Attorney-General to be continuing his private law practice while holding his present position with the provincial government.

The Attorney-General answered that as no other member was forced to give up his business because he served on the Legislature, he did not see why he should.

Mr. Winch replied that if the position of a cabinet minister was not sufficiently attractive to men of high calibre, then it should be made so.

Asked by the Attorney-General if he suggested all cabinet ministers should give up their businesses while holding office, Mr. Winch replied, "Of course they should."

Suggests Grants To Help Policing Victoria, Vancouver

Provincial grants to aid Victoria and Vancouver in the costs of policing the two cities were advocated by Harold E. Winch, C.C.F. Opposition Leader, in the B.C. Legislature Wednesday.

In every B.C. town where B.C. Police did the policing, the work was done for 15 per cent less than cost, Mr. Winch said, and he believed that if this were done for the towns, some aid should be given the cities. He was not suggesting, he said, the Provincial Police should aid in the policing of the cities, but that a grant be made to give a similar benefit to that given the towns.

Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer replied that the policing service was given by the B.C. Police at less than cost because the B.C. Police not only performed the usual duties of officers of the law but also carried out certain duties for the provincial government, such as tax collections.

Tom Uphill, Labor, Fernie, said the activities of the B.C. Police should be made uniform throughout the province. While bingo games were operated in Victoria, Vancouver, Trail and in Alberta, he said they had been stopped in Fernie.

Mr. Wismer said in answer to a question of Mr. Winch that no request had been made to him to have the R.C.M.P. police Vancouver. While he had opposed the B.C. Police on some occasions, he preferred them to the R.C.M.P.

Extra $730,000 For B.C. Municipalities

A bill to provide municipalities with one-third of total receipts of the provincial government for motor vehicle license fees was introduced in the B.C. Legislature Wednesday by Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb.

This legislation will implement the recommendation of H. Carl Goldenberg in his Royal Commission report on provincial-municipal relations.

To the municipalities of the province it means an extra $730,000 to be divided among them on a population basis. Previously the government had a $370,000 ceiling on the total of the receipts which could be divided among the municipalities.

To Represent B.C. At Empire Conference

C. D. Orchard, deputy minister of forests and chief forester, will represent the British Columbia Government at the fifth British Empire Forestry Conference to be held in London, Eng., during June and July of this year.

Making this announcement in the B.C. Legislature Wednesday, Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney also reported that Mr. Orchard would present two papers on forestry, one prepared by himself on "Forest Policy and Legislation in B.C.," and the other prepared by F. S. McKinnon on "Forest Management in British Columbia." Mr. McKinnon is forester in the B.C. Forest Service.

Ten More Breweries If All Applicants Granted Licenses

Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer told the B.C. Legislature that if the government supported the application of the Veterans' Brewery (Holding) Ltd. for a license to operate a brewery it would have to support similar applications of eight or 10 other companies.

Mr. Wismer said, answering a question of Herbert Gargrave, C.C.F., Mackenzie, during consideration of his department estimates that other applications had been rejected in the past and applications had been made since, including one from a group of Victoria veterans.

"Would you create 10 more breweries?" asked the Attorney-General.

"We'd take them over," said E. E. Winch, C.C.F. Burnaby.

Mr. Wismer said he had been told by Veterans' Brewery (Holding) Ltd. that if the license were not supported the veterans would start operation "C". This, Mr. Wismer said, meant the veterans would join the C.C.F. but he was willing to take the consequences.

Mr. Wismer described the scheme of the Veterans' Holding as a promotional scheme. They would have to raise $1,000,000 or more to start a business which would have to compete with the highly-organized brewing industry of the province.

Compulsory Auto Insurance Mooted

The B.C. Government is considering compulsory automobile insurance and an announcement of government policy would be made at the current session, Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer told the B.C. Legislature Wednesday.

Mr. Wismer made this announcement in answer to a question of Opposition Leader H. E. Winch.

Peace River Coal Information Expected By Next Summer

The answer to the important question before the British Columbia government—whether coal resources of the Peace River warrant extension of the provincially owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway into that district—should be known by the end of next summer, Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney told the B.C. Legislature Wednesday.

For decades it has been known that coal existed in the Peace River district but the extent of the resource has not been accurately known. The provincial government last summer sent geologists into the area to prove up the resources.

Mr. Kenney said the work was continuing and it was hoped extra diamond drills would be available to prove up more area.

"It might be pointed out that the growing shortage of oil on this continent is giving concern to many large consumers who look into the future to the time when liquid fuels will be derived from coal," he said. "For this reason our Peace River coal resources are doubly important, while their very high grade will make it possible to haul longer distances and compete with closer, but poorer coals."

Changes Assured In B.C. Liquor Act

The British Columbia Legislature Wednesday received its first assurance during the current session that amendments to the Liquor Control Act would be introduced during the current session.

Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer, answering a question of Herbert Gargrave, C.C.F., Mackenzie, reported amendments to the liquor act would be brought in but he did not elaborate as to what they would be.

Previously the Throne Speech and the "policy" speech of Premier John Hart had mentioned consideration of revision.

Mr. Gargrave also wanted to know whether it was the government's policy to discourage imports of Scotch whiskey as the government secured $1 more per bottle in taxes on Scotch than on rye. Mr. Wismer said he would look into the question.

Bring Liquor Staff Under Civil Service

Plans are just about complete to have the employees of the Liquor Control Board brought under the civil service superannuation program, Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer told the B.C. Legislature Wednesday.

Mr. Wismer assured that the plan would be made retroactive for the employees and said it could be effected without any action of the legislature.

Headache is present at the commencement of all fevers and many other diseases.

Month Of Speech-Making Ends; Legislators Discuss Spending

Formal speech-making in the B.C. Legislature for the current session has ended.

The Legislature, Wednesday, one month and one day after opening, wound up the budget debate and went into committee to study the 1947-48 fiscal year budget estimates.

Only two appropriations of the 206 main estimates, votes to provide for the $10,284,908 for public debt, and the $15,500 for operation of the Attorney-General's office, were approved. The public debt vote passed without debate. The "salary" vote for Mr. Wismer precipitated a two-hour question and answer period, most of the questions being asked by the C.C.F. Opposition and the answers being given by Mr. Wismer.

Since the Legislature opened Feb. 11, majority of the members and ministers have participated either in the two-week Throne Speech debate or the two-week debate which followed presentation of Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb's record $59,000,000 budget.

'Too Much Bureaucracy' Today, Senator McGeer Tells Realtors

An attitude of indifference and failure to co-operate in the whole scheme of government, federal, provincial and civic, was scored by Senator G. G. McGeer, K.C., mayor of Vancouver, in a colorful and often witty address, to a full meeting of the Real Estate Board of Victoria in Empress Hotel Wednesday.

In opening his talk, Senator McGeer assured the Victoria businessmen that "all the best people in the world at one time or another come to Victoria, but Vancouver gets them coming and going."

Getting down to the meat of his address, he referred to the plight of cities and municipalities, who in his opinion, suffered the greatest burden of responsibilities with limited resources of revenues, in a system where the three branches of government did not co-operate.

"Isley said 'no' more often at the Dominion-Provincial Conferences than Molotov at a U.N. meeting."

Mayor McGeer predicted a fight concerning tax payers and civic rights, claiming there was "too much bureaucracy" today. Good government depended not only on Ottawa, and the provincial Legislatures but also on the cities, municipalities and local institutions, he said.

"We can only get good government and that is efficient government in Canada, when the three governing agents operate with a spirit of co-operation and co-ordination," he said, adding that there must be a realization that the three great branches of government are responsible to one another.

Recent shooting of three policemen in Vancouver was a reflection of what was going on, on a sweeping basis in other cities, he said.

CRIMINAL WORLDS

"Three young men on an adventure of bank robbery shot three policemen and disclosed that our criminal world is composed of teenagers or those in early manhood," Senator McGeer continued. "It is a reflection of the system of government in our cities."

"There are people in our cities with no place but home, beer parlors and movies to go to. There is no accommodation for recreation, no stadium. Our cities have no revenue available when they want to do something."

Cities have not enough money to build the kind of hospitals they want, or parks, or even make the kind of streets and lanes they want to make, Senator McGeer continued. Reason for such a situation was not lack of a wealth of resources, labor and materials, but improper distribution of responsibilities and revenues among the three great branches of our government, he said.

HUNGRY THIRTIES

"We who could not feed ourselves in the hungry, moneyless thirties—we who could not build schools or parks were looked on as the new world who would come to the rescue of the old and we did."

He referred to Canada's gift of $1,000,000 to Britain early in the war, and said: "We demonstrated our power. Why is it necessary for the Dominion Government to haggle over a few million with the provinces." The power was there when war broke out, he told his audience adding: "It is power we have always possessed."

Discussing a study of transportation by rail which he had once made, Senator McGeer said: "It was very hard to convince them that this is a two-ocean country in that canoe-minded atmosphere of Ottawa."

"Instead of being able to discuss our problems with M.L.A.'s at Victoria, we find we have to bring a man out from Montreal to tell us how to run Victoria and Vancouver, he continued. "If you want to get full and complete knowledge of how not to run a city take Montreal as an example."

SCORES REPORT

"Why is it necessary to get a man from Montreal to run affairs here. We have had two reports from so-called experts and I'll venture to say the more you tried to read the Cameron and Goldenberg reports, the less you understand. There isn't a thing in them, that our municipal administrators could not have told us, and put together in less than a week and in infinitely more understandable form."

Among the guests at the luncheon were: Hon. R. C. MacDonald, Minister of Mines and Municipal Affairs; Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A. for Victoria; Cmdr. Charles T. Beard, M.L.A. for Esquimalt, representatives of the city and various municipalities. H. L. Davey, K.C., gave the vote of thanks. Col. Brooke Stephenson, president, introduced Senator McGeer.

Labor Lobby Gathers In Victoria Sunday

The Victoria Labor Council has elected three delegates to take part in the labor lobby, which will assemble in Victoria next Sunday. They are T. A. Mitchell, Robert Mezer and B. F. Seed.

The council has approved a May Day demonstration which will include a parade and a mass meeting. Unions will be asked to participate with banners and floats. The rally will take place on the afternoon of May 1.

A letter, asking May 1 be set aside as a half day labor holiday has been sent to Mayor George and members of the Victoria City Council.

Robert Mezer, council secretary, reported 2,400 signatures have been obtained to the labor council's petition for a publicly-owned transportation system.

A public meeting will be held in the Canadian Legion Hall, 1616 Blanshard Street, next Sunday.

New Tree-Planting Program In Britain

LONDON (CP)—A long-term program to build up Britain's woodlands, sadly depleted during two wars, has been launched by the government. The aim is 5,000,000 acres of productive forests within 50 years.

Even if this is accomplished, the country will be able to supply no more than one-third of its current requirements.

By 1950, £20,000,000 ($80,000,000) will be made available to the forestry commission. But planting is likely to be slow at first, largely because of manpower shortage.

Five national forest parks totaling 200,000 acres have been established and more will follow, but large-scale replanting and development of privately-owned woodland, is also planned.

Land owners are asked to "dedicate" land to forestry, receiving acreage grants for planting and maintenance of trees.

The forestry commission has compulsory powers in respect of certain woods.

Despite huge purchases in Canada, Scandinavia and Russia, the timber shortage is delaying the British reconstruction program. Concrete floors are being put in postwar houses to save wood.

Nazi Leader Curious; Arrested For Crimes

NUERNBERG (AP)—Curiosity got the best of Wilhelm Burgher.

So today he is a defendant in jeopardy of the hangman's noose instead of peddling insurance in Nuernberg.

Burgher, a leader in the concentration camp business administration, had been a free man living under an alias until last Monday.

He read that his old pal Oswald Pohl, Himmler's hatchet man, and 17 others were to be arranged before a United States court for crimes against humanity.

Burgher wangled a pass to the courtroom. And there he sat among the spectators while the S.S. prison camp organization was excoriated.

Two of the defendants, gazing over the courtroom, recognized Burgher. They told lawyers they would not speak while he was there free.

Burgher scurried from the court, but was traced through his pass and arrested.

SIGNS of the TIMES!

In every walk of life and in every circumstance signs have always been important—and never more so than today. The prime function of a store sign is to make it easy for the public to identify the store and to this end we have just had erected a sign that is entirely original and which, we feel, may make history in this particular field of publicity. Our problem was to design and so erect a sign that it would be visible from all angles, from both sides of the thoroughfare, and from traffic in both directions, by day and by night, and yet to show consideration for the equal similar desire on the part of our neighbor merchants. With these objectives in mind we called in Mr. Peter Thornton of Vancouver, a specialist in modern display, to design a sign to meet these rather difficult requirements. The finished sign shows the result of this careful design and planning and the erection of the sign by the Seaboard Neon Co. of the sign by the Neon Products Ltd. insured permanent construction of also quite original, showing up the store name without undue glare and with a pleasing harmony in keeping with the Standard Furniture idea as Headquarters for Home Loveliness.

THE THINGS THAT MONEY CAN'T BUY

HEALTH; A HAPPY HOME; opportunity for your children; your own peace of mind—these are priceless gifts. You can't buy them with money.

But reasonable financial security, based on a planned programme of personal saving, can help to guard and guarantee them.

Take your Victory Bonds, for example. Pretty reassuring to have them tucked away as a financial reserve, always "on tap" in time of opportunity or need. Pretty convincing proof, too, that you really can save when there's a real saving job to be done.

Perhaps today's rising costs or other factors are making it hard for you to carry on your savings programme. By the time you have met all your expenses, perhaps there's mighty little left for that all-important item marked "Savings".

Try putting savings first, not last, on your budget list. Owe yourself a definite amount each month, and make sure you collect it. It means careful budgeting, and putting off buying a good many things you'd like to have. But never forget—this is your share of what you earn. This is the part of your income which will help to assure for yourself and your family all the things that money can't buy.

PERHAPS YOU are already one of the hundreds of thousands of thrifty Canadians who have a savings account with the Royal Bank. If not, we invite you to come in and open one. Perhaps your first deposit will have to be small; don't let that worry you. The important thing is to start. It will be a pleasure to serve you.

Liberal Women Entertain At Luncheon Wednesday

Seated from left to right at the head table were Mrs. J. L. Gates, Mrs. T. C. Smith, Mrs. John Hart, Mrs. Tom Braidwood and Mrs. G. S. Wismer.

Mrs. J. L. Gates, president of the British Columbia Liberal Women's Association, addressed members of the Liberal Women's Forum and special guests at a luncheon held Wednesday at the Y.W.C.A.

Mrs. T. C. Smith, president of the forum, assisted by Mrs. Blair Reid, Mrs. N. Bertucci and Mrs. J. Slater, received the guests, among whom were Mrs. John Hart, Mrs. G. S. Wismer, Mrs. E. C. Carson, Mrs. Frank Putnam, Mrs. W. T. Straith, Mrs. Tom King, Mrs. A. H. Cox, Mrs.

Harry Dennison and Mrs. Tom Braidwood, both of Vancouver, and Mrs. A. H. C. Phipps.

Mrs. Gates, who wore on her smart dress of silver grey crepe a pink carnation corsage bouquet presented to her by members, gave a comprehensive report on the National Liberal Federation meeting in Ottawa, which she attended as a delegate for the Liberal Women of British Columbia.

"Committees were appointed and action was taken on resolutions, matters of finance, election and publicity, constitution and nominations," Mrs. Gates said, "with B.C. delegates well represented."

A resolution was passed urging that women be given permanent positions on Liberal councils in their ridings, Mrs. Gates reported. "It is time that women had a voice on these councils," she said, "instead of being called in to do the odd jobs or a spot of window dressing at the last minute of an election campaign."

"Many of our women's organizations have put politics aside during the war years, but" Mrs.

Gates pointed out, "as electors, we are now dominant in number and should therefore exercise our controlling franchise to elect governments whose concern should be to avoid conditions leading to another war."

Mrs. Gates has recently been elected to represent the four western provinces on the National Liberal Federation.

Arrangements of pussywills decorated the rooms, and a vase of daffodils centred the luncheon table. Solos were given by Mrs. J. Slater, accompanied by Mrs. N. Bertucci.

Cancer and chronic patients received 260 visits, expectant mothers 46, and 107 calls were made for health supervision. The total number of cases nursed was 191.

It was announced that three doctors acting in the capacity of medical advisory committee had consented to act again this year. These are Dr. A. D. Nash, Dr. H. E. Ridewood and Dr. D. M. Bailey. Mrs. Peter Barr will represent the Victoria branch at the annual meeting of the national V.O.N. in Ottawa in April. It was agreed that a letter would be sent to the Minister of Health and Welfare, Hon. G. S. Pearson, in favor of licensing practical nurses.

Problems Of Illegitimacy

The case of the child born out of wedlock, with all its attendant problems, was ably presented to the Women's Round Table Wednesday evening in the City Hall council chamber by Miss D. Trenholme and Miss Rae Kirkendall, both members of the Children's Aid Society. Miss Estelle Herbert acted as discussion leader.

Miss Trenholme gave a resume of the role Children's Aid Society plays in the protection of the child, work with the unmarried mother and interviews with the putative father.

"Case work with the unmarried mother starts from the time she is referred to us," she said, "and we try to make her feel we are genuinely interested in her as an individual."

She spoke of foster-home placements for the unmarried mother which had proved successful. "We are extending the foster-home program," she said, "as we find that the advantages of this type of care are already showing themselves."

Maternity home care is another important phase of the work, she said, and then stressed the need of a receiving home where a few girls could be accommodated.

"Giving the unmarried mother this kind of help does not mean that she will not realize that her behaviour has been against the code of society," Miss Trenholme told her audience, "but the experience will have given her new interests and perhaps a whole new outlook on life."

PUTATIVE FATHERS
Another part of the work recently undertaken by the society, Miss Trenholme said, was that of interviewing putative fathers. "In many cases we are able to establish paternity and to obtain some financial assistance for the mother and the child," she said. Miss Rae Kirkendall, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, spoke of provisions made by statute for the protection of the child born out of wedlock.

She explained that through provisions in the Children of Unmarried Parents Act, the superintendent of child welfare is notified through the Registrar of Vital Statistics of the birth of every child born out of wedlock. With this information available, another section of the act provides that "it is the duty of the superintendent to obtain all information possible and to do all things as may seem advisable in the interests of the child."

This act also gives every unmarried mother the right to apply for advice and protection; lay information on oath before a magistrate, following which the putative father may be brought to court to answer to the complaint and to be further dealt with according to law.

If the person is found to be the father of the child, his responsibilities under the act are clearly defined.

"In many cases, the putative father will admit responsibilities without court action," Miss Kirkendall said, "and is anxious to do his part."

She spoke of the Legitimation Act, where "parents of child born out of wedlock marry, the child is deemed legitimate as from date of birth"; the Protection of Children Act, administered in Greater Victoria by the Children's Aid Society which "gives great powers to the society to take steps to protect any child who needs it"; the Adoption Act which gives the society power to place babies in permanent homes.

"No child can be legally adopted, however, in the province of British Columbia," Miss Kirkendall said, "without a report being submitted to the Supreme Court by the superintendent of child welfare. This gives detail of the circumstances pertaining both to the adopting parents and the background of the child."

Dorothy Dix

GIRL 17, BIT TOO YOUNG TO KNOW WHAT
REAL AFFECTION IS

Dear Dorothy Dix: We are a group of 17-year-old girls who are having an argument about love. I think that you can tell when you are truly in love, no matter what your age is, while some of the other girls think I am wrong.

Do you think that a girl of 17 can possibly tell whether she is really in love, or is she too young and inexperienced to know what love really is?

A TEEN-AGER.

Answer: The great majority of marriages are love marriages, yet one marriage out of five ends in divorce, which seems to prove that nobody yet has devised any fool-proof way of telling real love from the phony article, or of being able to analyze their own feelings and know if what they feel is a deathless passion or just a passing fancy.

Even age and previous experience in matrimony doesn't seem to throw any light on the subject, for we see all about us men and women who have had a succession of husbands and wives, yet who doubtless thought themselves in love with each mate before they were married to him or her.

HERE TODAY—GONE TOMORROW

So you see that just thinking you are in love isn't a sure sign that you really are. It is more or less a matter of chance. You may be temporarily in love with a boy because he is a football hero, or because he is the boy who lives next door to you, or because he is a stranger with a new line. Then without rhyme or reason, you lose your taste for him and it is all off.

Products to be exhibited at the fair will be of all B.C. manufacture.

Skipper And His Spouse Are Shipmates Together

Ashore and afloat, Capt. T. Kvanne of the freighter Norlanda, and his wife, are inseparable. Here they are aboard their ship, which sails tonight for Odessa with Unrra supplies.

Mrs. T. Kvanne, Norwegian wife of the skipper of Ss. Norlanda, scheduled to sail from Victoria tonight with a cargo of B.C. herring for the Russian Black Sea port of Odessa, believes the duty of a spouse is to stick by her husband through thick and thin.

Since her marriage 15 years ago, Mrs. Kvanne has sailed with her husband and during the war endured the same hazards as merchant seamen sailing in the submarine-infested waters of the Mediterranean and North Atlantic.

"I like the sea," she stated in relating that she had been on ships which had been bombed or torpedoed, "but it's like everything else if you get too much sea life you get tired of it."

The 11,600-ton Panamanian freighter arrived here early this week from Shanghai to take on 42,041 cases of herring destined for Russia. She is docked at Ogden Point and is manned by a crew representing a score of nationalities. The vessel is of British design, but was built in 1921 at Chester, Pennsylvania, shipyards.

Capt. Kvanne, a stocky, mild-mannered individual with 40 years' experience at sea, expressed relief at having reached Victoria after what he described as a stormy Pacific crossing. The ship left Shanghai without a cargo for ballast which greatly hampered the movement of the vessel when it ran into heavy winds of cyclonic proportions off the coast of Japan.

"Despite the fact we took on water for ballast, the propeller was half the time out of water," related the captain. "We finally had to fill hold No. 5 with water to keep the propeller below the water line."

Capt. Kvanne said he was not very enthusiastic about delivering his cargo to the Soviet port because of his dealings with the Russians previous to the war.

HOPELESS IN CHINA

He wagged his head in despair when the subject of China was broached. "I've sailed in the Orient for 20 years," he said, "and I've never seen China in such a deplorable state."

The politeness and good manners of the Chinese were fast disappearing, he complained. Shanghai was a changed port where black marketing was rife.

Blaming Russia for stirring internal strife in China, Capt. Kvanne said "we should stop sending food to China. We are feeding them food and the Russians are feeding them politics. If we stopped sending them food, they would start thinking more of our politics."

He said you could buy anything from butter to a car in China providing you had the money. A pair of nylon stockings sold for $35 while a car for about $10,000.

Capt. Kvanne's yarns would equal any of Canard's sea sagas. He relates that one of the "hottest spots," he was ever in was when his vessel was anchored in the port of Ningpo at the time Japan was at war with China but had not yet attacked the Western Allies.

He was unloading a cargo when 19 Japanese destroyers began shelling the port. When he headed for the open sea, the Chinese opened fire and sent shells precariously close to his ship.

"It was shaky business," he said, "I wouldn't want to go through that again."

He also thinks he was particularly lucky when he fell sick during the war, just before sailing with a convoy of 18 ships through the Mediterranean. All vessels were sunk, and the first officer who replaced him, was killed.

Music Festival Planned For Schools

Saanich and Esquimalt schools will hold a musical festival the end of April, in which pupils from grades one to eight will participate. John Gough, municipal inspector of schools, announced today.

Arrangements have been completed by H. J. Beggsby, supervisor of music for this area, and the festival will be run on similar lines to the one held last year when Saanich schools presented a program of choral and rhythm band selections during a two-day meet.

Evening concerts will be held so the general public may hear representative groups from several schools.

Group Hears Outline Of World History

Rev. William Hills, rector of St. George's Church, Cadboro Bay, in an address entitled "Sunrise without Sunset" outlined the course of the history of the world from Grecian times to the Victoria Branch of the B.C. Historical Association Tuesday night at the Little Centre.

Also addressing the meeting was Mrs. Muriel Cree, who described the life of Richard Blanshard and the inauguration of British rule on the North Pacific coast.

Vote of thanks to Mr. Hills was moved by W. E. Ireland, provincial archivist and librarian.

Mrs. Ireland presided at the coffee urn. Mrs. Ethel Bruce concluded the program with the playing of the National Anthem.

The loan exhibit of old paintings added pleasure to the program.

Mrs. Curtis Sampson and Mrs. Cree received the guests.

Art Appreciation Classes Started

Copies of famous painting masterpieces are being circulated in the elementary schools of the Greater Victoria area to enable the pupils to get a greater understanding of good art, John Gough, municipal inspector of schools, said today.

The art appreciation work was undertaken following conferences held in the Education Centre at Craigdarroch, when teachers of the primary and intermediate grades were asked to carry on a series of lessons in picture appreciation with their classes.

The financial position of Royal Jubilee Hospital and what can be done to remedy it will be discussed Monday morning at 10.15 at a joint meeting of the city finance committee and the hospital directors. Ald. Edward Williams, committee chairman, announced today.

Clash of Interests in Beam Trawl Fishing

UNIONISM AND FISHERMEN'S CO-OPERATIVES

Can a Union Actively Supporting One Business Negotiate Fairly for the Employees of Competing Businesses?

In the highly competitive fishing industry of British Columbia, all fishing companies must work towards the same objectives.

1. To provide the most favorable conditions and the highest returns to the individual fisherman in order to maintain good will and thus obtain fish.
2. To conduct the most efficient and economical plant and distribution system.
3. To sell to the best possible advantage in the uncertain and highly competitive North American fish markets.

The independent fishing companies believe they should have the right to buy fish from any beam trawl vessel that wishes to sell to them at open market prices.

This is the right that the Union continues to give exclusively to the co-operatives while it demands that the independent companies sign a contract guaranteeing a fixed minimum price.

The United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union apparently has rejected the policy of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, of which it is a part.

Mr. Green said:

"We believe that private business and private industry have made tremendous contributions to the development of our country in the past and will take advantage of the growing opportunities for even greater growth in the future. For these services to the people, we concede that the owners and managers of private property are entitled to a fair profit. We, of the American Federation of Labor, will oppose any attempt to abridge, restrict or interfere with the functions of free enterprise."

But here is what Mr. George Miller, president of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, wrote in an article for "The Fishmen" (published jointly by the Union and the fishermen's co-operatives):

"There can be no separation of interests in the Co-op and Trade Union field because their interests as workers are identical. On the one hand they are striving to better conditions through signed agreements with the operators, and this can only be achieved by the Union; and on the other, to eliminate private capital and handle business directly from producer to consumer."

The independent fish buyers and fishing companies have no quarrel with the fishermen's co-operatives. But they do not think that the interests of fishermen and plant employees are best served when Fishermen's Union officials become deeply involved in fishermen's co-operatives.

Will such a Union, which is committed to the building of co-operatives, deal fairly with independent companies?

Can this Union negotiate fairly with independent companies concerning the livelihood of its own Union members who are employed by independents in processing plants?

Can it do justice to the independent fishermen who wish to sell their fish to competing independent companies and to avoid a monopoly on buying?

Dana's Sea Classic On Atlas Screen

Richard Henry Dana's immortal classic of the sea, "Two Years Before the Mast," is shown on the screen of the Atlas Theatre today with the opening of the Paramount picturization of the same name, starring Alan Ladd, Brian Donlevy, William Bendix and Harry Fitzgerald.

Paramount has turned out a spectacle as big as the sea itself, with all its sweep, and all the exciting adventure inherent in Dana's inflammatory novel of the brutal existence of the men who sailed ships of commerce in the 19th century.

New Soviet Film Breaks Records

"Russia on Parade," first Soviet color film of the world-famous physical cultural festival in Moscow, now at the York Theatre, may well be called a record-breaking film in more than one connotation of the title.

The famous sports parade, during the course of which Russian athletes topped many records for athletic events, has also proved to be a record-breaker in attendance figures in key spots on this side of the ocean.

In New York, in Chicago, in Toronto, and in many other key spots, "Russia on Parade," topped all attendance records at the theatres where it was premiered.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Larry Parks is grateful for being "himself" again.

After playing the role of Al Jolson for six long months in Columbia's "The Jolson Story," Technicolor musical current at the Capitol Theatre, Larry is again giving out with the good old Parks personality in his role opposite Rita Hayworth in "Down to Earth."

"I loved playing Al," says Larry. "But that Jolson fellow is world-famous, and millions of people know his every gesture and vocal inflection. I had to be on my toes every moment to be Al before the cameras. And then I began to notice that I was adopting the Jolson mannerisms."

For awhile, Larry admits, he was afraid of turning into Al's shadow.

ROYAL THEATRE

Fat, gag-loving David Butler was putting Dennis Morgan, Jack Carson, Janis Paige and Martha Vickers through a rehearsal for "The Time, The Place, and The Girl," Warner Bros. technicolor musical film in which the quartette are currently starring at the Royal Theatre.

At last rehearsals ended and, as the electricians light the set for the shot, Butler and Morgan got together and Morgan demonstrated a new trick he'd learned where he seemed to slip a loop of string in the centre, but actually left the loop intact.

Butler was fascinated. He tried the trick with string a couple of times, and apparently had it working smoothly.

Sword Mightiest In 'Sea Hawk' Day

"Now Junior, listen to dear mother. You'll just have to bolt on your sword if you are going out of the house!"

That was Errol Flynn mimicking the dear old lady's voice as he donned his mask and reached for a chair. A moment later, Fred Cavens joined him for a brief respite after their hard set to with rapier. Cavens, incidentally is a master swordsman and acted as expert adviser to Flynn in the science of defence during production of "The Sea Hawk," which is now being shown at the Rio Theatre.

Vaudeville At York Held Over 2 Days

So popular has the vaudeville entertainment, presented by the York Theatre all this week, proven, that, in accordance with many requests, it has been decided to hold the acts over for two more days, Friday and Saturday, therefore, will be the final appearance of the artists who have delighted patrons with clever acts, dancing and action comedy. The five acts include Elaine and Hugo, English dance team; the Del Reys, clever acrobats and other well-known artists.

In addition to the stage show, the picture, "The Seventh Veil," starring James Mason and Ann Todd, will be shown.

DOMINION THEATRE

Charles Coburn, portly trouper who has played screen parent to any number of movie lovelies, now makes his bow as the movies' newest song-plugger.

He entered the small, select list of "crooners" on celluloid by arbling a ditty to Jean Arthur and Joel McCrea in a scene for Columbia's "The More the Merrier," now at the Dominion Theatre, by way of persuading her to fall in love with some likely young man.

A total of $22 was secured by thieves who broke into the Junction Coffee Shop, 1543 Fort Street, Wednesday night. Freed Ranson, well-known local English rugby player, told city police. Entry was gained through a broken toilet window and squeezing through the iron bars on the outside of the window.

Kimberley In Second Win Over Nelson

KIMBERLEY (CP)—Kimberley Dynamiters trounced Nelson Maple Leafs 6 to 1 here Wednesday night to take a commanding two-game lead in the best-of-five series for the British Columbia senior hockey championship. Kimberley won the opening game of the series Monday 7 to 3.

Third game of the series to decide the B.C. representative in the Allan Cup playoffs will be played at Nelson Saturday.

The win marked the 18th straight victory for Dynamiters on home ice this season. The Western International Hockey League champions romped through 16 league home fixtures without a loss.

Calles paced the Kimberley attack with three goals, while Sullivan scored once and assisted on two others, and Forsy rained home a brace. Koehle tallied the lone Nelson marker.

Victoria's Oldest Woman Loves To Laugh And Talk

MRS. MARY PEARCE

By HUMPHREY DAVY
Victoria's oldest woman, 103-year-old Mrs. Mary Pearce is waiting for the Lord to take her away.

Propped up in her chair, a Bible in one hand and sipping a cup of tea in the other she confided that time weighed heavy on her hands and she would be glad when the end came.

"You are young," she said
sadly. "You don't know what it feels like at my age. I'll be glad when the Lord takes me away."
The little, blue-eyed lady who at 70 was capable of out-walking the average young man, confessed that her memory was not what it used to be and her sight was failing her.

But despite this admission, her mind was sufficiently clear in recalling many anecdotes of her childhood days in England and her voyage to New Zealand and Australia.

She attributed her good health to "God's will."

"Moderation in everything always helps," she added, "I always ate well and drank wine moderately."

"Did you ever do anything excessive in your life?" she was asked. There was a mischievous twinkle in her eyes as her guests leaned forward expecting to hear a startling confession.

"Yes, she chuckled, "I've been excessive in laughing and talking."

Mrs. Pearce, who lives at 857
McClure Street, was born in 1844, seven years after Queen
Victoria succeeded to the throne.
Her last birthday on Sept. 30th passed almost unnoticed in Victoria.

BORN IN ENGLAND

She was born and married at Ipswich, England, and remembers seeing the Queen frequently riding in London when a girl. Mrs.
Pearce was 37 years old when she left with her only daughter to join her husband in New Zealand. She was the only woman passenger aboard the sailing ship.
"It was an awful trip," she related, "I got so tired of seeing men that I told the Captain I would kiss the first woman I saw." She said she got a surprise when the captain took her by the hand and led her below decks where a woman was employed in the galley. "I just couldn't kiss her," she admitted, "I didn't think it would be proper."

Mrs. Pearce later moved to Australia. She didn't like the country and finally came to Canada, and before coming to Victoria resided for many years in Vancouver with her daughter.

In her 70's when residing in Vancouver, she used to walk six or seven miles without feeling the worse for it. Even now, despite her advanced age, she is still in good health and has a clear mind. She is straight forward and impatient with anyone who does not get to the point.

"Impatience has always been one of my failings," she admitted.
She confessed another failing when the photographer got ready to take a picture.

"Do I look all right?" she asked. "I am still vain you know."

Vancouver Buys Tiny Train Here

The Vancouver Parks Board has bought the miniature railway built by John Armstrong of this city, for installation in Stanley Park.

The little train, modeled on the big trains that pull freight through the Rockies, has three gondola-type cars which will provide rides for children in the Vancouver park. It has 600 feet of track. Mr. Armstrong has had the miniature railway, which can build up 145 pounds steam pressure, operating through his home and grounds.

A hole in his basement wall carries the train in and out of the station roundhouse, whence its right-of-way traversed gardens and three vacant lots.

This is the second novelty item bought from the Victoria area for installation in Stanley Park.
A year ago Vancouver purchased the electric organ from Butch-art's gardens and it now plays at concerts in the Vancouver park.

The Town-Planning Commission will meet in the City Hall Friday at 7.30. It is believed that the decision will be made on the choice of the new City Hall site at this time, as well as other zoning matters coming up for discussion.

Fire On Trawler In Courtenay River Sends 3 To Hospital

COURTENAY (CP) — Three fishermen suffered serious burns in a fire on board the fishing boat "Dorothy" in the Courtenay River, Vancouver Island, Wednesday when the main gas tank caught fire and exploded.

Hospital authorities at Comox,
B.C., where the men were taken for medical attention, reported last night that the condition of William Bailey of Coal Harbor,
N.S., was "dangerous." Condition of the other two, Roy Fleming of Vancouver, and A. O. L. Johnson of Courtenay, B.C., was described as "good."

The fire on the 30-foot trawler is believed to have been started when gas fumes from the main tank were ignited by a lamp.

J. B. Pawson has been appointed manager of the newly opened branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia at South Westminster. Mr. Pawson started his banking career 22 years ago in Toronto. Since then he has served in Winnipeg, Man., Bracebridge, Ont., Lethbridge, Alta., twice in Edmonton, Alberta, and prior to coming to Victoria three years ago he was in the main office,
Vancouver, for two years.

Valuable Heirlooms Stolen From Suite

Heirlooms and $30 in cash was the loot secured by robbers who broke into the Alkazar Mansions apartment suite occupied by Miss E. J. Herbert, Wednesday night between the hours of 6.45 and 11.

Entry, Detective Louis Callan found, was made through an open window. Miss Herbert said that while she could not put a dollar and cents value on the jewelry stolen, to her it was priceless, having been handed down through the family. A quantity of costume jewelry was also stolen.

Included in the stolen heirlooms were a small gold ring with five pearls, a white Indian gold bracelet, a long string of pearls, Cameo ring and earrings, earrings with chipped stones, a necklace, a cluster pearl clip, three sets of earrings, a silver jade ring, a green jade ring, a platinum midinner ring with chipped diamonds, two rubies and two emeralds.

Uncle Ray

GALILEO MADE SPYGLASSES AND TURNED THEM ON SKY

Three hundred and forty-two years ago, on a spring day, a professor heard important news while he was visiting the city of Venice. He was told that someone in the Netherlands had found a way to make distant objects seem close.

The news was true. A Dutchman had placed lenses of spectacles in front of each other, and had looked through them at a church steeple. The steeple looked as though it had turned upside down, but it seemed close and the weathercock on the top of it was very plain to his view.

After learning about the Dutchman's tests, the professor, whose name was Galileo, said, "I would like to make an instrument of the kind."

At this time in his life, Galileo was 43 years of age. For 17 years he had taught at the University of Padua, after being forced to leave the position he had held in his native city of Pisa.

Travelling back to Padua, the professor quickly set to work. He tested different lenses, and found two of them which worked well together. These he placed at either end of a tube made of lead.

With this instrument (spoken of as a "spyglass") objects seemed to be three times as wide as without it.

Far from being contented by his success, Galileo made other tests with lenses, and soon had a spyglass which made things look eight times as wide. By the next year he had prepared one which increased the size of a distant object 32 times!

For many years this man of science had taken an interest in the star-filled sky. He believed that the earth, itself, was a planet which moved around the sun, as Copernicus had said years before.

With his spyglass, Galileo decided to look at the moon, the planets and the stars. Soon he learned that the moon has mountains and valleys on it.

Galileo also studied the Milky Way with a spyglass. He declared that the Milky Way was made up of a vast number of separate stars.

Missing Boat Found Damaged On Rocks Of Trial Island

With a damaged steering gear and propeller, the 40-foot former R.C.A.F. crash boat "Fulmar", owned by Dexter Levers, 533 Cook Street, was found aground on the rocks of Trial Island at 10:20 last night, five hours after it had been missing.

Painted blue with a small cabin, the craft was reported missing from its Inner Harbor moorings last night. It was found by Oak Bay Police Constables Charlie Bates and Walter Patterson. With John Bowker of the Oak Bay boathouse accompanying, a search of the main island and the smaller one adjacent—known as Little Trial Island—was conducted until 3 this morning seeking the occupants of the craft, but without success.

Solar System May Be Destroyed In Billion Years

Dr. R. N. Petrie, of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory here predicted the tearing of the moon asunder and the complete destruction of the solar system.

But the astronomer, speaking before the Royal Astronomical Society at the Little Centre Wednesday "On Tides and Phenomena," said there was no cause to get panicky about the matter. Such a catastrophe wouldn't happen for billions of years.

He explained that one day the moon will spiral closer and closer to the earth, causing enormous tidal forces that will tear the moon asunder and the fragments will form a ring around the earth, such as the ring around Saturn.

Dr. Petrie said the earth's water is pulled toward the moon by the attraction of the moon and sun. However, the earth turns beneath the water causing tidal friction which slows the rotation of the earth one one-thousandth of a second every 100 years.

When the tide is slowed down by the solar tide, he said, the moon will also slow down in its orbit. This will cause the moon to wobble.

The "wobbling" moon will finally spiral down toward the earth. The attraction of the moon and the earth at close range, said Dr. Petrie, will shatter the moon into fragments and these fragments will form a ring around the earth.

Organizations Will Discuss More Action On Braefoot Homes

The Canadian Legion and the Citizens Rehabilitation Council will discuss further action to aid veterans living on the Braefoot estate obtain reductions in the alleged exorbitant prices this week, it was learned today.

Rt. Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Veterans' Affairs, informed Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, M.P. for Nanaimo, that the Federal Government did not contemplate any reduction in prices, but would pay a 100 per cent repair job on the 2,600 units built on small holdings under provisions of the Veterans' Land Act.

The investigators' report on the Braefoot situation has not yet reached the minister's hands. Maj. Gen. Pearkes was informed, but he expects it within the next 10 days.

The Citizens' Rehabilitation Council will hold a director's meeting Friday afternoon at which the question will come up.

The Legion District Council will meet next Thursday evening. Robert Knight said today, "We are anxious to see that investigators' report published," he said.

"If the government was willing to have the committee set up they should be willing to publish the report."

He gave assurance that the legion had no intention of letting the matter drop but would continue to press for lowering of prices for the veterans at the Braefoot homes.

Youth Hostel Group Plans For Trip To Salt Spring Island

Victoria group of the Canadian Youth Hostel Association, meeting Monday night at the Y.W.C.A., completed arrangements for an Easter trip to Vesuvius Bay, Salt Spring Island. It is planned that a party of 12 will leave the city on bicycles Easter Friday. It will be the first trip of the year.

On March 22, 10 girls from the University of Washington will be guests of the local division. During their stay they hope to see as much of the island as possible.

Under discussion at the meeting was the present lack of facilities at the Mount Douglas Park hostel. The group is appealing for furniture, cooking utensils, stoves and other necessities.

A letter has been forwarded to the city parks committee asking that the unused store in the park be torn down and a new hostel erected in its place.

Red Cross Drive Reaches $31,489

Victoria Red Cross campaign officials announced at noon today that $31,489 of the $65,000 Greater Victoria objective had been subscribed to noon today. National objective is $5,000,000. The money will go towards the peacetime program of the society. Included in this program is the establishment of a free blood transfusion service throughout Canada. It is hoped that in the near future anyone, anywhere, who is in need of a blood transfusion, will be able to have one free of charge.

Miles Acheson, who was acting deputy commissioner of Chinese Customs in Shanghai at the outbreak of the Japanese war, has written to the Red Cross headquarters giving his own personal testimonial of the wonderful work done by the Red Cross.

"When we were taken prisoner," Mr. Acheson wrote, "we were taken to northern China. We felt that we were abandoned, that nobody would know where we were. The burning question in everybody's mind was: 'How is my family at home? How can I let them know that I am alive.'"

"But the Red Cross found us and our feeling of helplessness was alleviated and we were able to send letters of 25 words home, and from home to camp."

"In the past, I gave to the funds of the Red Cross, never thinking that some day I might be in need of their services myself, and never realizing what a fine organization they were. I now know, it could happen to anyone. If it does, their friend will always be the Red Cross."

Mrs. Leong Shee, 541 Cormorant Street, reported to police that she lost $120 between her home and the E. & N. station Wednesday afternoon. Retracing her steps, she told Detective Bill Richards, she found the money had been wrapped in and affixed to her wrist by three safety pins, but the money was missing.

The Vancouver Island Rabbit Breeders' Association will meet tomorrow at 8, 734 Fort Street.

Dispute Candidacy To Agrologist Group

A dispute over the examination of candidates seeking the status of agrologist under the proposed Agrologists' Act arose during the sitting of the legislative agriculture committee today.

One suggestion was that the council of the proposed B.C. Institute of Agrologists be given the complete power to examine a man and pass him into membership of the institute, but this was protested by Dr. William Newton, head of the Dominion Experimental Farm, Saanichton, and a member of the proposed council, who said it would leave the council open to accusations of creating a "closed shop."

Dr. Newton said he would prefer to continue under the original proposal of the bill which would give the examining board of the University of B.C. senate power to grant a candidate membership in the institute. It was exceedingly unlikely, he said, that any man would be turned down who, although he did not have the necessary academic qualifications, had done anything outstanding in agriculture in the province.

He also welcomed the committee's inclusion of Dr. J. B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture in B.C., in the list of members of the institute's council. It was most important to have at least one senior member of the department on the council, he said, adding that it gave the department an obligation to take an active interest in the institute.

Ratepayers of Saanich Ward Three are urged to attend a meeting in the Scout Hall, Cadboro Bay, Friday night at 8 to discuss a matter of importance to property-owners of Cadboro Bay, Ten Mile Point and Queenswood. Uplands residents are also invited to attend.

Injured to the left leg and ribs were suffered by six-year-old Pearl Pearson, 1016 1/2 Fort Street, when she was in collision with an automobile Wednesday afternoon on Fort Street between Quadra and Vancouver. The girl was attended at her home by Dr. George Hall.

with legislation continuing emergency controls which are scheduled to expire at the end of the month.

Although holding an overall majority of only five in the 245-seat Commons, the government Wednesday won 134-84 on its major test of strength—the Progressive Conservative motion of want of confidence.

The 14-man Social Credit party voted with the government against the motion. The 68-man Progressive Conservative party and the 28-man C.C.F. party voted together in opposition.

Earlier, the Social Credit motion of non-confidence in the government had been turned back 211-13.

The two final votes came at the end of a long-drawn-out debate on the address in reply to the Throne Speech, read at the opening of Parliament Jan. 30.
The motion for adoption of the address was passed "on division" without a formal recorded vote.

Now, the next major debate is expected to come on the "omnibus bill," made up of some 55 orders-in-council under which the government can continue price, rent, subsidy and other controls considered to be essential. Debate on it may not come for a few days, as there are still some minor control bills to be cleared away.

Two British Racing Events Rescheduled

LONDON (AP)—The Jockey Club, co-operating with the government in its request to limit sports in midweek, announced Wednesday that two more important horse races had been rescheduled for Saturdays.

The Chester Cup race, popular attraction for working men in the north, will be run on May 10, said the Jockey Club, which controls flat racing. The Manchester Cup, usually run on Fridays, will be on May 31.

These were the only postpone-ments reported but ruling bodies of other crowd-pulling sports to comply with the unprecedented peacetime request, issued Tuesday, to eliminate events that lure workers from the assembly line.

from Friday to Saturday, March 29, by its stewards.

Winston Churchill Of New England, Famed Author, Dies

Had famous name... Late
WINSTON CHURCHILL

CORNISH, N.H. (AP)—Winston Churchill, noted American author, died of a heart attack
Wednesday in Winter Park, Fla., his son, Creighton Churchill, informed the press here Wednesday night.

He was widely known as "the other Churchill," but in the late 90's and the early part of this century he was "the" Winston Churchill to Americans. He was one of the enigmas of the literary world. For a decade he turned out a series of brilliant historical novels, among them
"Richard Carvel," "Coniston" and
"Inside the Cup," then, apparently writing ceased to interest him, and he became a dilettante political and farmer, with wood-carving as his hobby.

He met the English Churchill at Boston in the 90's and later when both had published successful books, the two exchanging amusing letters regarding the similarity in their names.

He was born at St. Louis in 1871, entered the Annapolis Naval Academy 17 years later and took up his writing career soon after graduating.

Ortiz Not Anxious For Dade Rematch

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A rematch of the Manuel Ortiz-Harold Dade bantamweight title fight was sought today as ring writers generally bemoaned the decision which returned the crown to Ortiz.

Promoter Cal Eaton said Gus Wilson, manager of Dade, was eager for another bout and hoped to put on the fight within 60 or 90 days.

But Tommy Farmer, Ortiz' manager, had other ideas. Peeved at press response to the Tuesday scorcher, Farmer said flatly:
"We're going to make 'em cool their heels. We have good offers from Honolulu that come first."

on the Pacific Highway past the place was diverted.

Jack Wilson, operator the past few years, estimates his loss at $85,000 partly covered by insurance, and Daryl Harpa, orchestra leader, said his 13-piece band lost many expensive instruments.
